Operations & human resources policy manual

2023

The Operations and Human Resources Policy Manual replaced the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Employee Handbook prepared by Donna Miller (2000, revised 2003) in February 2009.

This Manual was prepared by Carey Bidtnes, Operations Manager, in consultation with the Board of Directors' Human Resources and Nominations Committee. The committee referenced the policies of the City of Kingston, Queen's University, and St. Lawrence College, as well as relevant legislation in preparing the manual. The manual is reviewed annually by the HR & Nominations Committee.

Purpose

The Operations and Human Resources Policy Manual is the official statement of Kingston Economic Development Corporation Operations and Human Resource Policies. It is not intended to be, and should not be interpreted as, a contract between the Kingston Economic Development Corporation and any employee. Rather, it is designed to provide employees with consistent knowledge to ensure the equitable and consistent application of the policies.

Scope

The policies and procedures in this manual are applicable to all employees, contractors and volunteers of Kingston Economic Development Corporation. Where a particular subject area is not specifically addressed in this manual the applicable section(s) of applicable Federal and/or Provincial Legislation shall apply. Please refer to "Relevant Legislation".

Administration

This manual is a living document, which shall be reviewed, at minimum, on a yearly basis. The manual shall also be updated on an as needed basis as legislation and employment law evolve.

This manual is available on the Kingston Economic Development Corporation server, and revisions shall be incorporated into the document, as well as communicated to all staff, as they occur. The manual is an open document that shall be freely accessible to all employees.

Relevant legislation

The following legislation informs the policies and procedures contained within this manual:

1. Canadian Human Rights Act, R.S.C. 1985, as amended. Government of Canada.
2. Ontario Human Rights Code, R.S.O. 1990, as amended. Government of Ontario.
3. Ontario Employment Standards Act (ESA), R.S.O. 2000, as amended. Government of Ontario.
4. Occupational Health and Safety Act (OHSA), R.S.O. 1990, as amended. Government of Ontario.
5. Workplace Safety and Insurance Act (WSIA), S.O. 1997, as amended. Government of Ontario.
6. Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA), S.C. 2000, as amended. Government of Canada.
7. Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA), R.S.O. 1990, as amended. Government of Ontario.
8. Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (MFIPPA), R.S.O. 1990, as amended. Government of Ontario.

Section 1.0

Code of conduct

1.1 Code of conduct policy statement

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation Board of Directors and staff are dedicated to fostering economic prosperity within our community. The Corporation actively promotes community engagement and collaborates with strategic partners to achieve economic sustainability and well-being. Dedication to conducting all business affairs with transparency, openness, and consistent ethical standards is a core value of the Corporation, its Board of Directors, and its staff.

The reputation of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation, along with the trust and confidence of our community and clients, ranks among our most invaluable corporate assets. The Corporation holds our employees to high standards of integrity, discretion, and ethical conduct in their service to the community.

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation expects employees to demonstrate honesty and accountability in alignment with the values and objectives articulated in the Corporation's Mission, Vision, and Values and Principles. Our employees not only represent the Corporation but the community as a whole. As such, employees are expected to perform in a professional, business-like manner in every capacity as a representative of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation. This expectation extends to all activities where employees may be seen as representing the Corporation, including events, meetings, or other situations where Kingston Economic Development is a sponsor, active participant, or guest.

1.2 Business ethics policy statement

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to ensuring Corporate social responsibility in all business practices through transparency, integrity, and consistency in all dealings with clients, employees, stakeholders, and the community.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation upholds the following operating principles:

1. To respect and protect client confidentiality.
2. Openness and transparency in business transactions.
3. Accountability for the use of all public funds.

1.2.1 Conflict of interest

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's employees are expected to conduct themselves with the highest degree of ethical behaviour and integrity. All employees are expected to manage their responsibilities and any external interests or activities so that no conflicts of interest or commitment arise, or the appearance thereof.

A conflict can occur when, in carrying out their duties an employee makes a decision or takes action which may be affected by the employee's personal, financial or business interests, or the personal, financial or business interests of relatives, friends or associates of the employee.

Examples of conflict of interest

1. Using Kingston Economic Development Corporation position for personal gain.

Entering into a contract or transaction on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation with a company or firm in which the employee, or a friend or relative has financial or other interest. Accepting gifts, benefits or other favours from individuals, organizations, or companies with which Kingston

Economic Development Corporation does business or partners with, of substantial value. The test is whether the gift, benefit or favour could potentially influence the decision-making process of the receiver.

2. Inappropriate use of Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees, resources, or assets.

Responding to interest or offers of employment from Kingston Economic Development Corporation clients, suppliers or partners while acting on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation. Unauthorized use of Kingston Economic Development Corporation' employees, resources, facilities, or assets for one's personal substantial benefit or the substantial benefit of a friend or relative.

3. Inappropriate involvement in hiring or evaluation.

Participating in the appointment, hiring, promotion or evaluation of a person or organization with which the employee has a marital, familial, or intimate personal or professional relationship with.

4. Inappropriate use of information.

Using information acquired as a result of the employee's Kingston Economic Development Corporation activities, such as knowledge of business opportunities, tendering, partnering, or knowledge of forthcoming developments or procurements for personal gain or other unauthorized purposes.

5. Divided loyalties

Involvement in activities or commitments which bring an employee into a position of divided loyalty between the mission of Kingston Economic Development Corporation and the interests of the activity or commitment. Example: A Kingston Economic Development Corporation trying to influence decision-makers to accept a tender for office supplies from a firm owned by their spouse.

Provisions

1. Employees have an obligation to report, in a timely fashion in advance, and to discuss with the CEO all actual or potential conflicts of interest and/or commitment.
2. The employee's declaration of an actual or potential conflict of interest and/or commitment shall be submitted in writing and filed in the employee's personnel file.
3. The CEO will determine if a conflict exists or if there is potential for a future conflict of interest.
4. In the event that a conflict does exist, agreement will be reached on a course of action to avoid the conflict, and the agreement will be in writing and held by each person facing the conflict and filed in the employee's personnel file.
5. All information or reports disclosed in accordance with this policy will be held in confidence by the employee declaring the conflict, and the Corporation.
6. In the event that a possible conflict of interest becomes apparent, an employee is expected to excuse themselves from the discussions immediately, until a decision can be made with respect to the existence of a conflict.

Any employee found to be in violation of this policy will face disciplinary measures consistent with the Corporation's progressive discipline policy.

1.3 Political involvement policy statement

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is a not-for-profit Corporation primarily funded by the municipality. As with the public service, Kingston Economic Development Corporation and its employees have a duty to act impartially and without bias. The purpose of this policy is to assist in maintaining the neutrality of the Corporation, and its employees.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation recognizes and respects an individual's choice to participate in political organizations, activities, or campaigns outside of their employment with the Corporation.

The Corporation is prohibited from making any donations of any nature to any political party or an event that raises funds for a political party.

Provisions

1. No employee may canvass or work in support or against a municipal, provincial, or federal candidate during working hours. Working hours do not include vacation time or time on leave of absence.
2. Employees are not restricted from engaging in campaign activities outside working hours.
3. Staff who, outside of working hours, are working on behalf of a municipal, provincial or federal candidate may not use any of the Corporation's resources (e.g. equipment, supplies, etc.) for campaigning activities any time before or during the election.
4. No employee shall wear clothing, buttons or other identifiers that advertise any municipal, provincial, or federal candidate while at work.

1.4 Confidentiality and non-disclosure policy statement

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will protect the confidentiality of our clients, and our business. The Corporation respects the confidentiality of proprietary information and intellectual property, and will not disclose information, directly or indirectly, except as required by law.

Definitions

1. "Proprietary information" means confidential and undisclosed information including but not limited to trade secrets, ideas, innovations, improvements, inventions, developments, discoveries, information, data, formulae, descriptions, drawings, compositions, data, technology, client lists, vendor lists, and other business or financial information originated by or peculiarly within the knowledge of the disclosing party.
2. "Intellectual property" means property that can be protected under federal law, including copyrightable works, ideas, discoveries, and inventions.

Provisions

1. Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees, contract employees, professional contractors, and Board members are obligated to maintain strict client & Corporate confidentiality, protect client & Corporate proprietary information, and respect client & Corporate intellectual property rights.
2. The Internet is an open, non-secure information network. Users shall not visit Internet sites which are clearly inappropriate for business functions of Kingston Economic Development Corporation, or do not support the operating principles and practices of Kingston Economic Development Corporation; and/or have potential to cause a network security breach.

The use of the internet to transmit information potentially exposes such information to third parties. Employees are responsible for protecting company and client information by not sharing sensitive or proprietary information via the internet.

Section 2.0

Employment

2.1 Employment policy statement

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to fostering a workplace culture that embraces and celebrates diversity, equity, and inclusion (DE&I) in all its forms. A diverse and inclusive workplace supports the health, safety, and success of all employees. The Corporation endorses the City of Kingston's Inclusion Charter, and our commitment to DE&I is rooted in the following principles:

1. Diversity contributes to the strength and prosperity of our organizations and our community.
2. Equity is fundamental to successful inclusion.
3. Everybody deserves a safe and respectful work environment.
4. Employers play an important role in facilitating successful inclusion for Kingston residents.
5. Inclusive, diverse, and equitable workplaces benefit all.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation adheres to the National Living Wage Framework. The Corporation provides a living wage to all employees.

2.2 Recruitment and selection

The Corporation is dedicated to equitable and inclusive hiring practices, emphasizing qualifications such as prior work experience, competencies, educational background, and specific job requirements. We consider candidates for job vacancies from both internal and external sources, with the decision based on the nature of the position and a commitment to providing fair opportunities to all individuals. In cases where qualifications are comparable, priority will typically be extended to internal candidates as part of our commitment to fostering growth and development within our organization.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation recognizes the following principles in recruiting and selecting employees:

1. Diversity drives innovation, fosters creativity, and contributes to team success.
2. Ensuring equity of access throughout the selection process and respecting the worth and dignity of all candidates.
3. Promoting open and transparent competition which meets all legislative requirements.
4. Developing and promoting internal candidates where possible.

2.2.1 Hiring process

The objective of Kingston Economic Development Corporation's recruitment and selection policies and procedures are to:

1. Attract and retain a diverse workforce with the skills, knowledge, and abilities to perform their work to a high standard of competence and efficiency in a team based, project driven environment.
2. Develop and retain talent to the best advantage of the organization.

The Corporation follows a consistent process for all competitions, customized to the role. The selection process includes resume screening, interviewing, and reference checking. Depending upon the role and applicant pool, the Corporation may include multiple interviews and/or competency related testing.

Applicant Categories

1. Terminated employees: Employees who have been dismissed and are not eligible for re-employment at Kingston Economic Development Corporation in any capacity.
2. Former employees: Employees who have left Kingston Economic Development Corporation in good standing, either voluntarily or involuntarily and are eligible for re-employment.
3. Internal candidates: Current full-time employees of the Corporation, and where candidate qualifications are comparable, priority will typically be extended to internal candidates.

Procedure: Vacancy

The responsibility for selecting the most qualified applicant to fill a vacant position lies with the CEO. The CEO may delegate the responsibility of filling administrative, part-time or seasonal vacancies to another employee within the department.

Procedure: New position

If a Manager identifies the need to establish a new position within the business unit, they may submit a proposal for consideration to the CEO. The proposal must include a position summary, job description, evidence to support the need for the new position, and funding formula.

The proposal will be evaluated by the CEO. If the total annual expenditure for the position is greater than $25,000 and not within the Board approved salary/wage budget line, the proposal must be approved by both the CEO and the Finance and Audit Committee.

Procedure: Executive search

The responsibility for recruiting and selecting the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation lies with the Board of Directors. The Human Resources and Nominations Committee shall determine the appropriate recruitment strategy, execute the strategy, and select the successful candidate.

Offer of employment

When a selection decision is made, the Corporation will extend a written offer of employment. All candidates will be notified of the outcome of the competition. Successful candidates will be contacted by the CEO or delegate, to offer the position and determine the starting date.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation has standard offers of employment, which are reviewed annually or more frequently as required to ensure compliance with employment legislation. The offer of employment is the contract between the Corporation and the employee, and clearly outlines the terms and conditions of employment. This includes:

1. Position and job title.
2. Start Date.
3. Salary and compensation, including applicable benefits and vacation entitlements.
4. Terms of employment and hours of work.
5. Probationary period and associated conditions.
6. Termination clause.
7. Other terms of employment as applicable.

2.2.2 Volunteers and experiential learning placements

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to providing opportunities for experiential learning and community participation. Whenever possible, in compliance with employment and health and safety standards, the Corporation will accept volunteers and/or students in experiential learning programs.

Individuals must be sixteen (16) years of age or older on the date that the engagement is to begin. Volunteers and students are not employees of the Corporation, and no employment contract exists.

The Corporation reserves the right to engage in an open and transparent selection process for volunteer and experiential learning placements. Successful applicants are subject to the policies and procedures of Kingston Economic Development Corporation and are held to the same professional standards as employees. Volunteers and students are required to accept a release of liability and waiver form, which outlines the shared obligations for health and safety, the Corporation's statement of confidentiality and code of conduct.

The Corporation reserves the right to end volunteer and/or student placements at its discretion. Where applicable, the Corporation will consult with the institution and/or organization affiliated with the volunteer or placement.

Procedure: Experiential learning placements

If a Manager would like to engage a placement, within the business unit, they may submit a proposal for consideration to the CEO. The proposal must include the length of the placement, affiliated institution or organization, position summary or job description, scope of work, and physical resources required.

The proposal will be evaluated by the CEO, in consultation with the Manager applying to determine if the Corporation has the necessary resources (physical and supervisory) to support the placement.

1. Eligibility

Kingston Economic Development Corporation accepts students/participants from experiential learning programs from Secondary Schools, Post Secondary Institutions, and other organizations that offer on the job skill development. Students/program participants are encouraged to seek out an appointment on their own, and to contact Managers directly. Managers may also choose to contact related programs.

The Corporation will only accept placements from programs that:

- // Require successful completion of a on the job placement for the completion of an academic program or are run by not-for-profit organizations to provide on the job skill development, integration or training.
- // Provide WSIB coverage for the student/program participant. The program must provide written documentation of workplace safety insurance for the student/program participant. All documentation must be signed by the student/program participant, program provider, and the Corporation.

2. Selection and onboarding students/program participants

- // Applicant screening, interviews and reference checks must be completed where appropriate
- // The responsible manager must review the terms of the placement, with the student/program participant, and their direct supervisor if it is not the manager. The student/program participant must know who their direct supervisor is. The terms of the placement include but are not limited to the length of the placement, position summary or job description, scope of work, the learning goals of the individual, and the Corporation's goals for the placement term.
- // The responsible manager must complete all associated paperwork and submit to the office of the CEO prior to the placement start date.
- // The student/program participant is required to read the policies and procedures of the Corporation within the first week of the placement period and acknowledge the receipt and understanding thereof. Emphasis will be placed on health and safety and the code of conduct.

3. Performance assessment

If students/program participants have questions or concerns regarding their job duties or assignments, or other aspects of the placement, they should speak directly to their supervisor. Supervisors shall provide support, coaching and counselling to the student/program participant. Supervisors are responsible for discussing professional conduct, performance issues and learning opportunities as they arise.

Performance issues that breach Corporate policy and/or are recurrent despite coaching and counselling will be discussed with the program provider to reach a resolution.

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation reserves the right to end placements at its sole discretion, in compliance with all legislative requirements.

Procedure: Volunteers

Volunteers may be recruited for specific, carefully designed assignments that are meaningful to volunteers, and that complement and enhance the delivery of services. Kingston Economic Development Corporation has the right and obligation to recruit, screen, and select volunteers.

Volunteers will be considered under the following circumstances only:

// As participants in Special Events.

// As participants in the Small Business Development Centre's programs.

Prior to the start of any volunteer activity, responsible managers must ensure that all volunteers read the release of liability and waiver, statement of confidentiality and code of conduct, and acknowledge the receipt and understanding thereof. Emphasis will be placed on health and safety and professional conduct. All volunteers must accept and sign the release of liability and waiver form, to be submitted to the Office of the CEO.

Managers must ensure that volunteers know who to report to, and understand their assignment, including but not limited to time scheduled, length of assignment, duties, professional conduct, and goals or outcomes where appropriate. If volunteers have questions or concerns about their assignment, they should speak directly to their supervisor. Supervisors are responsible for addressing issues as they arise

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation reserves the right to dismiss volunteers at its sole discretion, in compliance with all legislative requirements.

Advisory committees of the Board of Directors

Volunteers members of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Board of Directors' Advisory Committees must comply with the Corporate By-law and/or terms of reference for advisory committees or panels. The senior staff member representing Kingston Economic Development Corporation on the advisory committee or panel will provide all members with to provide volunteers with the Corporation by-laws, and ensure members receive, and acknowledge understanding the terms of reference for the committee on which they sit.

2.3 Terms and conditions of employment

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to providing a welcoming and safe work environment for all employees, placements, and volunteers. The advancement of diversity, equity and inclusion is a corporate value and cultivating DE&I is a pillar of talent retention and development. We strive to engage employees and promote both the best interests our employees and the Corporation.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's funding could vary significantly from time to time; each employment agreement includes a termination clause that clarifies the extent of the Corporation's obligations in the event of termination. As a small and client focused organization, we rely on our employees' flexibility to move from one project or assignment to the next, to support one another to achieve our goals, and to respond to client inquiries outside of standard office hours.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation adheres to the National Living Wage framework and endeavors to provide competitive compensation packages and wages to other Economic Development Agencies, and the local market to both attract and retain exceptional talent.

2.3.1 Compensation

Salary ranges are determined by responsibility and accountability. An employee's total compensation consists of base salary or wage, and benefits offered by the Corporation. Kingston Economic Development provides benefits according to terms of employment and the policies of the provider, including extended health benefits, pension plan, vacation time, and opportunities for professional development.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is a Living Wage Employer. Entry-level rates represent a living wage in Canada for rate of compensation, except in cases where additional education, experience or skills are required. The National Framework for a Living Wage calculates a living wage that would allow two income earners to support a family of four. For the most current information and living wages, please refer to Living Wage Canada (www.livingwage.ca) or the Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives (<https://policyalternatives.ca/publications/facts-infographics/canadian-living-wage-framework>).

A living wage reflects what earners in a family need to bring home, based on the actual costs of living in a specific community. The living wage is calculated as the hourly rate at which a household can meet its basic needs, once government transfers have been added to the family's income. A living wage supports community success and:

1. Enables working families to have sufficient income to cover reasonable costs.
2. Promotes social inclusion.
3. Supports healthy child development principles.
4. Is a vehicle for promoting and providing information about complementary social programs.

Wage and salary bands

Wage and salary bands are determined by position responsibilities. Increases to wages and base salary are linked to individual performance, portfolio responsibilities and annual cost of living considerations. Performance evaluations are conducted bi-annually with frequent feedback and coaching on a regular basis.

Chief Executive Officer	$ 125,000
As determined by the Board of Directors with Annual Review
Directors and Senior Management	$ 90,000 ≥ $ 125,000
Business Development Officers	$ 50,000 ≥ $ 95,000
Coordinators	$ 35,000 ≥ $ 55,000
Hourly and Seasonal Employees	Ontario Living Wage

Payroll

1. Employees shall be paid on a bi-weekly basis on Fridays. The pay period begins on Sunday and ends on the second Saturday.
2. Hourly employees are paid for hours worked, and the pay will always reflect the hours worked in the two weeks prior to the Friday paid.
3. Salaried employees are paid based upon the annual wage, calculated on twenty-six (26) pay periods consisting of two (2) work weeks. Salaried employees' pay reflects the two work weeks up to and including the Friday paid.

2.3.2 Travel and accommodation expense

This policy recognizes that Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees may incur travel expenses in the course of doing business. Employees required to travel for business shall be eligible for reasonable reimbursement for travel, on behalf of the Corporation, to attend approved courses, workshops, conferences, trade shows, seminars, events or meetings.

Travel expenses under $500 shall be approved by the employee's manager. Expenses above the $500 threshold require CEO approval.

Provisions

These guidelines apply to anyone who incurs travel expenses while conducting business on behalf of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation.

1. All travel by fare shall be in Economy Class.
2. Travel by Business Class when hosting clients/customers requires pre-approval by the CEO.
3. Use of a personal vehicle is permitted where it is cost-effective. Allowances may be claimed for such use while on company business. The approved rate is provided by the City of Kingston accounting department on an annual basis.

Accommodation

Kingston Economic Development Corporation representatives shall select a hotel that offers a Corporate or discounted rate and that is within proximity of the event being held. If there is no hotel that is within a reasonable distance of the event, another comparably priced hotel may be chosen.

Reimbursement for hotel suites, executive floors, or concierge levels is not permitted. Reimbursement will be made for single accommodation in a standard room unless a standard room is unavailable.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees staying with friends/relatives may claim $30 per day in lieu of accommodation costs.

Meals

When traveling out of Kingston, the Kingston Economic Development Corporation representative will be granted a daily limit of $65/day, excluding taxes, for personal meals. Approximate breakdown as follows:

Breakfast: $15.00	Lunch: $20.00	Dinner: $30.00	Total: $65.00

If a Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee is entertaining a client, this should be noted on the receipt and does not reduce the amount that the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee is entitled to spend on personal meals.

All meal receipts for which there are multiple people should have a list of attendees on the back of the detailed receipt. Meal expenses for a group should be claimed by the most senior person present.

Alcohol cannot be claimed and will not be reimbursed as part of a travel or meal expense except in the scenario defined in the Hosting Guidelines.

Hosting guidelines

There may be occasions where employees are hosting external guests or customers in a social setting for sales and marketing purposes. On such occasions, with pre-approval, employees may purchase an alcoholic beverage – as a courtesy and only where appropriate – for themselves and each of their guests or customers.

Alcoholic beverages purchased in the course of activities amongst colleagues, community groups or general meetings may not be expensed. Safe and appropriate consumption of alcohol is expected of all employees during work related activity.

Any questions related to the content of this Policy or its interpretation should be directed to the CEO.

Gratuities

Representatives that incur expenses while conducting business for Kingston Economic Development Corporation may provide an appropriate gratuity on the value of the goods and/or services (prior to any discounts). Gratuities may vary with local customs and cultures. However, while conducting business in Canada, the customary gratuity for services is 18-20%.

Gratuities greater than 18% may be reasonable when the goods and/or services received have been discounted. For example:

- // The representative of the Corporation has a discount coupon, gift card or gift certificate, which decreases the amount of the goods and/or services, the gratuity is calculated on the full value.
- // The receipt of a complimentary meal due to a kitchen error, with a gratuity provided on the actual value of the meals received.
- // Extended occupation of a dining table for meeting purposes.

Travel by vehicle

1. Parking and tolls

Parking costs incurred in the course of business, occurring off-site, will be reimbursed. Receipts for attendant parking lot use and parking meters must be attached to the expense claim. Parking costs incurred in the office area as part of the regular commute to work will not be reimbursed. Reimbursement is also provided for necessary and reasonable tolls for bridges, ferries, and highways, when driving on business.

Expenses arising from employee behaviour such as traffic and parking tickets or property damage incurred during a traffic accident will not be reimbursed.

2. Personal vehicle

Employees who on occasion, voluntarily provide their personal vehicle for Kingston Economic Development Corporation related business travel within the city of Kingston, are to be reimbursed according to this policy or a monthly allowance where agreed. The kilometric reimbursement rate is determined each year in alignment with the City of Kingston.

When using a personal vehicle for Kingston Economic Development Corporation business based on a kilometer rate, a daily log of the "from and to" destinations should be kept along with kilometers traveled for each trip. A copy of this log is to be attached to each Expense Claim for reimbursement. Use of Google maps or other internet-based mapping programs is acceptable to calculate kilometers travelled.

For trips greater than 250 km in one day, a rental vehicle must be obtained rather than use the kilometric reimbursement.

If an employee chooses to use a personal vehicle for travel in excess of 250 km in one day, the employee will be reimbursed for the equivalent value of a vehicle rental for one day (based upon the current rate of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation provider). The kilometric rate will not apply.

Employees are expected to carry adequate vehicle insurance coverage, including occasional business use.

3. Rental vehicle

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will provide the name of the contracted rental company for the Corporation. All associated rental costs (daily rate, insurance) and gas will be reimbursed.

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation Credit Card provides insurance coverage to rental vehicles.

If an employee does not have a Corporate Credit Card or is renting a vehicle that is not eligible for coverage under the card, the employee should purchase the collision damage waiver coverage offered by the rental company. The insurance cost can be claimed as a travel expense.

4. Distracted driving

Kingston Economic Development Corporation recognizes that distracted driving can impair safe driving and contribute to vehicle accidents. This policy applies to all employees of the Corporation. This policy is intended only to define certain prohibited activities and prescribe certain practices and recommendations to help employees safely operate company equipment or perform work for Kingston Economic Development Corporation. Any activity which would cause drivers to take both hands off the wheel at the same time, or their mind entirely off the driving responsibilities is prohibited. Driving distractions include devices inside the vehicle as well as conversations with passengers.

// Specific prohibitions:

Although a list of activities that could be considered distractions would be too numerous to mention, Kingston Economic Development Corporation prohibits the use of the following devices by the driver, in the course of carrying out their duties as an employee, while the vehicle is in motion:

- Texting with a cell phone or PDA
- Cell phone use, unless coupled to a hands-free device
- Televisions and CD players
- Use of radio or stereo headphones
- Electronic games
- Any device in violation of any applicable municipal, provincial or federal statute

// Suggested Practices:

Making or receiving phone calls is strongly discouraged while driving. It is best to make mobile phone calls only when you are safely parked off the traveled portion of the roadway.

Procedure: Travel by fare

The choice of transportation between air, rail, bus, or taxi will be determined prior to departure. The selection will be based on what method is most effective to successfully complete the trip in a timely and fiscally responsible manner. If using a taxi or ride-hailing service, the Corporation's designated Taxi account should be used, chits are available.

All fares will be booked in economy class. The cost of cancellation insurance is an allowable expenditure.

Use of personal travel points to upgrade to Business Class is acceptable; however, the CEO must pre-approve all business class travel prior to booking.

Ineligible expenses

1. Accommodations

If a spouse is traveling with the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee, their accommodation expenses will not be reimbursed. If a spouse is traveling with the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee, this should be noted on all hotel invoices.

If the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee chooses to stay at the hotel prior to, or after the event (or authorized period of time), their expenses will not be reimbursed.

2. Meals

Any meals that are paid for on behalf of spouses or friends during the trip will not be reimbursed. Any daily meals that exceed the daily limit outlined in the "Meals" section may not be reimbursed.

3. Travel

Any travel costs paid on behalf of spouses or friends during the trip will not be reimbursed.

Gas expenses for personal vehicles are not eligible. The purpose of the compensation is to take care of gas and general maintenance of your car. Any kilometers driven in excess of the 250 km/day limit may not be reimbursed.

4. Other

Personal items are not eligible. Personal entertainment, reading materials, supplies, barbering or hairdressing charges, movies, personal phone calls, or dry cleaning will not be reimbursed.

Miscellaneous items arising from employee behaviour such as parking fines, Highway Traffic Act offences, penalties, property damage caused by the employee, or money lost will not be reimbursed.

Procedure: Completion of a travel expense report

A travel expense report must be completed within 21 days of returning from an event, particularly when a cash advance has been issued.

1. An expense claim form must be completed before the expenses are reimbursed.
2. Expense claim forms must include receipts for all items listed.
3. Expense claim forms list all purchases individually, with the HST broken out, and each purchase coded as to the department, budget line number, and General Ledger account code.
4. Appropriate authorization of the expense claim form by an employee/contractor's supervisor. Travel expenses for Board Members must be pre-authorized by the CEO.
5. Submissions that do not contain all of the above items for all purchases will be deemed incomplete and remain the personal responsibility of the employee or Kingston Economic Development Corporation representative.

2.3.3 Corporate credit card

Corporate credit cards may be issued to employees in roles where it is anticipated that they will be required to incur a great deal or regular amount of business-related expenses. Such cards will be issued only with the approval of the CEO. Credit cards are the property of the Corporation, and may be revoked at any time, at the sole discretion of the Corporation.

Provisions

1. Employees remain personally responsible for the payment of any and all items charged to the Corporate card until such items have been properly documented and approved as per the provisions of this Policy.
2. At no time may an employee charge expenses that are not related directly to the performance of their duties for the Corporation to the Corporate credit card.
3. All purchases made on Corporate credit cards must be within the current approved budget, must be within the employee's individual budget authority, and must be made in accordance with the purchasing and tendering policies of the Corporation.

Approval

1. All purchases made on a Corporate credit card must have the approved credit card receipt issued by the vendor or the signed credit card slip, and the accompanying itemized receipt submitted with the monthly credit card statement.
2. Employees must complete an expense claim form to accompany the monthly statement, including approved/ endorsed slips, and itemized receipts.
3. Expense claim forms list all purchases individually, with the HST broken out, and each purchase coded as to the department, budget line number, and General Ledger account code.

4. Appropriate authorization of the expense claim by an employee/contractor's supervisor.
5. Submissions that do not contain all of the above items for all purchases will be deemed incomplete and remain the personal responsibility of the employee.

2.3.4 Hours of work

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's business hours are from 8:30am to 5:00pm Monday through Friday. This enables our clients to rely on prompt and full service during these hours. The office remains open throughout the hours of operation.

Individual work-weeks will vary in accordance with the nature of business, the work that is performed, and an employee's position and responsibility in the Corporation. Depending upon the workflow employees may be required, from time to time, to work outside of the regular office hours.

Attendance

Kingston Economic Development Corporation maintains an attendance record to ensure clarity and fairness. This involves recording absenteeism as well as time taken during regular business hours for personal appointments, sick days, jury duty, leaves, vacation or personal business.

The Corporation recognizes that it is difficult to schedule personal appointments outside of regular business hours; however, management requests that staff do so wherever possible.

If an employee knows that they are going to be late or absent from work, it is the employee's responsibility to inform their supervisor as soon as possible. Employees are expected to contact their supervisor on each day they cannot attend. The Corporation reserves the right to request medical documentation for absences of three (3) days or longer or in reasonable circumstances.

Employees found to be habitually absent or tardy will be coached, corrected, and may be disciplined per the progressive discipline policy.

Overtime

On occasion, in response to business needs, employees may be required to work additional hours. This may mean working irregular hours and, rarely, exceed 44 hours in a given week.

Overtime is defined as hours worked in excess of forty-four (44) within a work week (seven consecutive days starting on Sunday and ending on Saturday). In accordance with the Employment Standards Act (ESA) staff whose work is managerial or supervisory in character or of a technical nature do not qualify for overtime compensation under normal conditions.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will compensate eligible overtime hours worked in accordance with the Employments Standards Act. An employee's supervisor must approve all overtime in advance. Such approval shall be in the form of e-mail or by written documentation. These records shall be retained, for audit purposes, in an appropriate payroll file.

Unauthorized overtime worked at the employee's own discretion to manage their own workflow is considered voluntary and is not eligible for overtime compensation. This includes working through lunch hours and breaks, or early arrivals and late departures from work.

Public holidays

Kingston Economic Development Corporation recognizes the following public holidays, and the Corporate Offices of are closed:

// New Year's Day	// Canada Day	// Thanksgiving Day
// Family Day	// August Civic Holiday	// Christmas Day
// Good Friday	// Labour Day	// Boxing Day
// Victoria Day

Of the ten public holidays recognized, the August Civic Holiday is not defined as a statutory public holiday under the Employment Standards Act. For statutory holidays occurring on non-working days, the holiday will be observed on the following regular workday(s).

Procedure: Public holiday pay

Salaried employees will be paid at the regular rate for each holiday. Holiday time off is considered as scheduled time worked and will not be counted as a vacation day.

Salaried employees who are required to work on a statutory public holiday (as defined by the ESA) shall receive another working day off to replace the public holiday.

Hourly employees, who are required to work on a statutory public holiday as defined by the ESA, will receive premium pay. Premium pay is 1½ times the employee's regular rate of pay. In addition to premium pay for hours worked, hourly employees shall receive public holiday pay in accordance with the ESA.

Public holiday pay is calculated as a dollar amount as follows:

Regular wages + Vacation pay* /20 = $$ amount

*earned in four weeks prior to the work week with the public holiday.

To qualify for public holiday pay, an employee must work all of their regularly scheduled days of work before and after the public holiday. Regularly scheduled days of work before and after the public holiday don't have to be the day's right before and right after the holiday.

For example, if an employee isn't scheduled to work the day right before or after the holiday, as long as they work all of the last regularly scheduled shift before the holiday and all of the first one after it—or provides reasonable cause for not working either of those days—they meet this criterion.

December holiday office hours

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's operations slow during the December Holiday period, and the Corporation may allow regular full-time staff days off between Christmas and New Year's Day inclusive to recognize non-standard hours worked throughout the year.

2.3.5 Leaves

Important or unusual circumstances may make it necessary for a staff member to be absent from work for periods of time. Each situation shall be decided upon based on reasonable and equitable standards. Kingston Economic Development Corporation has a policy to cover most situations of illness or special leave.

Provisions

1. A written leave of absence is required for all absences exceeding five (5) working days, and where possible shall be made at least five working days prior to the day the leave is to begin.
2. In addition to the leaves identified in this policy, special leave may be granted for emergency or unexpected events on an as requested basis, provided that such absence of the employee is not disruptive to the then current demand. Any special non-emergency leave shall be made up through lieu time, vacation days or days off without pay.
3. We encourage our employees to schedule personal appointments (doctor, dentist, etc...) before or after regular working hours where possible. When approved, the employee is expected to make-up time lost due to attendance at appointments during the workday, or the employee can take the time as vacation time.
4. Scheduling of time-off within working hours is subject to the approval of the employee's supervisor. Such requests for special leave must be submitted in writing.

Paid Leave

1. Bereavement leave

Leaves of absence, with pay, will be granted in the following circumstances:

// Up to five (5) consecutive workdays, to arrange for or attend the funeral, for the death of a spouse, parent/step parent, or child/stepchild, or a person living in the same residence as part of the same household as the employee. Spouse shall include same sex spouse.

// Up to three (3) consecutive workdays, to arrange for or attend the funeral, for the death of a brother, sister, grandparent, grandchild, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, sister-in-law, and brother-in-law.

// If additional time is required for the purposes of substantial travel, or for other extenuating circumstances, then the CEO may grant up to three (3) days, with pay.

// Employees may serve as pallbearers when requested without loss of pay on the day of the funeral for the time necessary to perform this function.

Where interment is at a later date, one or more of the above days may be postponed until that date.

2. Sick leave

Sick Leave is defined as absence from work due to a bona fide illness, a non-work related injury or is subject to quarantine due to exposure of a contagious disease.

Employees are provided with up to ten (10) days per calendar year of paid leave to be used strictly for absences due to Sick Leave. These sick days are credited to each employee at the beginning of the calendar year for use during that year only. Sick leave credits may not be carried forward, nor are they paid out at any time.

In addition, employees receive full entitlements under employment standards legislation, including any paid infectious disease emergency leave days for COVID-19-related reasons.

3. Procedure: Sick leave

When an employee is unable to report to work because of illness or injury, their supervisor must be notified as soon as possible on the first day of absence and as early as possible during the day.

After three (3) days of continuous absence, or as requested by Kingston Economic Development Corporation, the employee may be required to provide medical documentation certifying that the employee is unable to work.

In the case of longer absences, the employee must keep Kingston Economic Development Corporation informed at reasonable intervals of the expected date of return to work. Employees are expected to notify their supervisor as early as possible of their expected date of return to work.

Prior to returning to work, an employee may be requested to provide medical documentation that the employee is able to return to work on a full-time basis without restriction; or, that the employee is able to return to work with the nature and duration of any work restrictions described.

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation may require that a medical practitioner of Kingston Economic Development Corporation's choice examine an employee and determine whether the employee qualifies for Sick Leave or is fit to return to work. In such cases, the employee will be notified of this decision and Kingston Economic Development Corporation will work with the employee to arrange a mutually convenient appointment. All costs associated with such a medical appointment will be covered by Kingston Economic Development Corporation.

4. Jury or witness duty

An employee who is: (a) subpoenaed as a Crown witness; (b) subpoenaed as a witness as a result of the performance of their duties as an employee of Kingston Economic Development Corporation or; (c) serving as a juror; will receive regular pay for those days during which the employee is required to be absent by virtue of the subpoena or jury duty.

The employee must give Kingston Economic Development Corporation notice of their intention to be absent within twenty-four (24) hours of receipt of the subpoena by providing a copy of the document(s) to their supervisor and the CEO.

The employee shall receive their regular pay while serving in the above capacity and must submit to Payroll monies received as jury or witness pay, less expenses.

An employee called for jury duty should report for work during scheduled working hours before and after such duty. Time spent on jury duty shall not be considered time worked for the purposes of overtime.

Unpaid leave

The Employment Standards Act, 2000 (ESA), including Bill 148 grants employees the right to unpaid job-protected leave in a number of circumstances. If you are considering unpaid leave, please consult with the CEO to assist you in understanding the nature of each leave.

1. Maternity leave

Maternity and parental leave procedures are in accordance with the Employment Standards Act of Ontario.

After thirteen (13) weeks of employment, employees, upon written request at least two weeks prior to starting said leave, shall be granted up to seventeen weeks unpaid leave of absence (see top-up benefits, section 2.2.9) for maternity leave and up to thirty-five (35) weeks of unpaid parental leave.

For a biological mother, a parental unpaid leave may be taken for a period of up to thirty-five (35) weeks immediately after the maternity leave. A written request for maternity leave shall be accompanied by a medical certificate estimating the expected date of delivery. An employee may change the date of the maternity leave by providing at least two weeks written notice to the employer. If an employee is forced, through pregnancy related complications, to commence the leave prior to giving notice, the employee must give such notice, along with a medical certificate of the expected or actual date of birth, as soon as reasonably possible.

If an employee becomes ill as a result of a complication arising out of a pregnancy, and the employee is within seventeen (17) weeks of the expected date of birth as identified on the medical certificate, the employee has the option of going using Sick Leave or commencing the maternity leave.

A written request for a maternity or parental leave implies an intention to return to work. The employee must specify in their written request to their supervisor the date the leave commences and the date they intend to return to work. If an employee wishes to change the date of their return to work, the employee must give at least one month's written notice before the date the leave was to end.

To avoid delays in qualifying for benefits, the employee should obtain the Record of Employment on their last working day before the leave and should present it as soon as possible at the Employment Insurance Office.

2. Parental leave

An employee who is a parent and has been employed for at least 13 weeks before the birth of a child, or 13 weeks before the child came into the parent's custody, care and control for the first time (e.g.

Adoption), is entitled to up to thirty-five (35) weeks of unpaid parental leave (see top-up benefits, section 2.2.9)

A "parent" includes a person with whom a child is placed for adoption or a person who is in a relationship of permanence with the parent of the child and who intends to treat the child as their own.

Unpaid parental leave for natural and adoptive parents may be taken after the birth or after the child first comes into the custody, care, and control of the parent, but no later than 52 weeks after the birth or custody of the child.

An employee shall provide written notice of request for Parental leave as much in advance as possible, but no less than one month, prior to the leave. Written notice should include the date the leave is to commence and the expected date of return to work.

3. Voting day

Employees who are eligible to vote in a Federal election must have four consecutive hours while the polls are open in which to cast their ballots. In Provincial and Municipal elections, the required time to be available to vote is three hours. An employee will only be entitled to leave work early if their regular hours of work conflict with this procedure.

4. Inclement weather

On occasion, inclement weather may make it difficult for employees to get to work on time.

Employees are expected to make arrangements during periods of inclement weather which will enable them to arrive as soon as possible. Travel to and from work in inclement weather is the sole responsibility of the employee. If the Kingston Economic Development Corporation office is open, employees are expected to report to work.

Procedure

When an employee is unable to report to work or will be late to work because of inclement weather conditions, the employee shall contact their direct supervisor as soon as possible. The employee will be given the option of: a) using vacation time; or b) taking leave without pay.

2.3.6 Vacation

All Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees are entitled to take vacation with pay after the completion of their probationary period. Vacation credits accrue monthly as soon as employment commences and based on the vacation entitlement set out in the employee's employment agreement.

Commencing in the calendar year of the employee's first anniversary and continuing throughout their employment at Kingston Economic Development Corporation, employees must take the minimum vacation allowance mandated by the Employment Standards Act (ESA) each calendar year. Employees with entitlements greater than the ESA minimum must use the full vacation allowance by the end of each calendar year (December 31), or they may lose any unused time greater than the ESA minimum. Carryover of unused vacation days for all employees is at the discretion of the CEO.

Continuous Service	Vacation entitlement (days)
After 1 year	10 days
After 3 years	15 days
After 8 years	20 days
After 12 years	25 days

Employees who have taken vacation (with pay) and terminate their employment with Kingston Economic Development Corporation before the vacation has been fully earned will have the amount of vacation pay taken but not earned, deducted from their final pay. Likewise, employees who have terminated their employment before taking all vacation days earned will receive the vacation pay earned and not taken on their final pay from the Corporation.

Operational requirements are the overriding factor in scheduling vacation time. Employees are asked to submit vacation requests to their supervisors with as much notice as possible... Supervisors will make every reasonable effort to accommodate vacation requests and final approval will be based on the business needs. It is recommended that employees receive approvals prior to booking travel or making other arrangements.

2.3.7 Employment benefits

Maternity and parental top-up benefit

Full-time regular employees are eligible for top-up pay and extension of benefits as outlined below. To qualify for maternity or parental top-up benefits, an employee must have been employed continuously for six (6) months or more. Eligible employees will receive the salary and benefits provisions specified below with the understanding that the employee is expected to work for the Corporation for at least three (3) months following the date of their return from maternity/parental leave.

Allowance

- // Weeks 1 & 2: 100% of the employee's normal basic earnings for the first two (2) weeks of the leave
- // During the period of the maternity/parental leave, the Corporation will continue the employee on full extended health benefits.
- // An employee may choose to continue Group Life benefits while on leave. If the employee opts to continue with the benefit, s/he is required to pay their portion of the cost of the benefit plan during the full term of the leave.
- // Both service credit and vacation entitlement continue to accrue while the employee is on leave.
- // An employee may choose to either purchase or opt-out of purchasing pension benefits (OMERS) during the leave. An OMERS member may purchase benefits (up to a maximum of 52 weeks) by paying the pension contributions that would normally have been paid during the period.
- // Upon return to work the employee is to return to their previous position and salary. If that position no longer exists, the employee will be placed in a comparable position with no loss in salary.
- // Where both parents are employees of the Corporation, only one top-up benefit will be granted under this policy.
- // Employees receive the salary and benefit provisions specified above, with the understanding that they will return to work for the Corporation for at least three (3) months. Should an employee resign prior to returning, or leave the employ of the Corporation within three (3) months of the end of the leave, a repayment of the wages paid by the Corporation as a top-up is required s

Short term disability benefit

The terms of the plan apply to all regular full-time Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees. Kingston Economic Development Corporation reserves the right to withhold payments under this plan if complete and proper medical documentation is not provided to the company in a timely manner. To be eligible to participate in this policy an employee must be on the payroll as an active employee for a continuous six (6) month period prior to the illness occurring.

"Short-Term Disability" applies to absences due to medically directed leave of two continuous weeks or longer.

Short-term disability does not include absences due to everyday common colds, the various flu viruses, and elective day surgery absences (an example of elective day surgery would be laser eye surgery).

1. Provisions

The short term disability benefit plan does not become effective until the absence lasts longer than two (2) continuous weeks. Kingston Economic Development Corporation will provide the following to employees that have applied for leave, providing they have completed and submitted an approved Functional Abilities Form from their medical practitioner, but not limited to any additional required forms.

// Weeks 1 & 2: 100% of the employee's normal basic earnings for the first two (2) weeks of the leave.

// Weeks 3+: To be determined by the CEO on a case by case basis in consultation third party experts as required.

Employees are encouraged apply for employment insurance (EI) sickness benefits when possible.

2. Procedure

To be eligible for and receive payments for the short-term disability benefit, the employee must have worked for the company for a continuous six (6) month period. They must also provide the company with a detailed medical letter stating:

// The nature of the medical issue and expected recovery time (the prognosis)

// The severity of the medical issue where relevant

// The dates of the first and most recent medical visits for the issue specifically

// The expected recovery date and the date when the employee is expected to return to work.

A handwritten note by a medical practitioner on a prescription pad or letterhead stating that "an employee cannot or is unable to come to work due to illness" is insufficient documentation for payment under this plan, without exception.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation reserves the right to have a qualified medical practitioner of its choice review a claim, and if necessary, examine an employee on leave, as a condition of making or continuing payments under this plan.

3. Responsibility

The employee is responsible for submitting the medical documentation, as outlined above to Kingston Economic Development Corporation. If the information submitted is incomplete in any way, the Corporation reserves the right to reject the employee's application for Short-Term Disability payments until such information is provided in its entirety.

Once complete documentation is received, including a functional abilities form, the CEO will inform the employee of the decision in coordination with the employee's direct supervisor where possible.

Pension plan

Kingston Economic Development Corporation participates in the Ontario Municipal Employees Retirement System (OMERS). All full-time regular employees will be enrolled in OMERS effective on the first day of employment with the Corporation. All part-time and hourly employees have the option to enroll in the OMERS plan.

OMERS is a multi-employer, contributory, defined benefit pension plan. A defined benefit pension plan is a plan which defines the pension to be provided, but not the total contributions. The benefit is normally based on length of service and earnings. All members of OMERS belong to the basic plan and costs are shared equally between members and employers.

Extended health care and critical illness insurance

Regular, full-time employees are eligible for extended health care benefits effective the first day of employment with the Corporation. Kingston Economic Development Corporation pays 100% of the premiums for both extended health care and critical illness insurance. Premiums paid on behalf of employees for critical illness (CI) insurance are a taxable benefit and are recorded as such on each employee's annual T4. Copies of the benefits booklet which provides a Summary of Benefits are accessible on the Corporation's shared server.

Group life insurance and long-term disability

Kingston Economic Development Corporation provides regular full-time employees with life insurance, dependent life insurance, accidental death & dismemberment insurance, and long-term disability insurance. Regular, full-time employees are enrolled effective the first day of service with the corporation.

Employees pay 100% of the life insurance, long term disability, and accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D) premiums.

Copies of the benefits booklet which provides a Summary of Benefits are accessible on the Corporation's shared server.

2.4 Employee personal information and privacy

This privacy policy has been developed to comply with Canada's Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act ("PIPEDA"). PIPEDA sets out rules for the collection, use and disclosure of personal information in the course of commercial activity as defined in the Act.

This Privacy Policy applies to Kingston Economic Development Corporation's Board of Directors, members, employees and contractors and applies to information that is not in the public domain. 8. "Individual" means an employee, a contractor, a Board member, a volunteer, a member, or any other person involved in the delivery or receipt of services from Kingston Economic Development Corporation.
9. "File" means the information collected in the course of processing an application, as well as information collected/updated to maintain /service the member.

10. "Express consent" means the individual signs an application, or other forms containing personal information, authorizing Kingston Economic Development Corporation to collect, use, and disclose the individual's personal information for the purposes set out in the application and/or forms.
11. "Implied consent" means the organization may assume that the individual consents to the information being used, retained, and disclosed for the original purposes, unless notified by the individual.
12. "Third party" means a person or company that provides services to Kingston Economic Development Corporation in support of the programs, benefits, and other services offered by Kingston Economic Development Corporation, but does not include any Government office or department to whom Kingston Economic Development Corporation reports in the delivery of programs, benefits or services.

Purposes of collecting personal information

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will collect and use only the personal information about employees necessary to achieve the following purposes:

// To evaluate suitability for employment.

// To administer payroll, group insurance, pension plan or other employment related programs.

// To evaluate job performance.

// To measure Internet capacity and performance.

// To contact next of kin in case of an emergency at the work site or while on work-related travel.

// To reimburse for approved travel claims incurred in the course of employment.

// As required by law

If an employee objects to the collection, use or disclosure of their personal information for the purposes outlined in this policy, the employee's objection could mean that they will be unable to receive the full complement of employment related benefits.

Type of personal information collected

Kingston Economic Development Corporation collects and uses several forms of employee personal information:

// Contact and financial identification information: Name, home address, telephone number, marital status, bank or other financial institution account numbers for direct payroll deposit purposes, emergency contacts, next of kin, dependents, age, gender identification, and SIN.

// Employment information: Education, training, experience, holiday periods, sick time, references, performance evaluation reports, years of employment, salary and benefits, benefits administrative employee identification number, contracts, expense claims, health information if in connection with sick leave or a short term or long-term disability claim, employee termination information.

// Work product information: includes information about email and Internet usage. Kingston Economic Development Corporation reserves the right to monitor any e-mail transmitted and received for the purposes of conducting investigations and, when necessary, ensuring compliance with the E-mail Policy. In general, Kingston Economic Development Corporation will not monitor the content of electronic mail unless a complaint is received or there are reasonable grounds to believe that a violation of the e-mail policy or of security has occurred.

How Kingston Economic Development Corporation collects employee personal information

Kingston Economic Development Corporation collects personal information directly from individual employees when they apply for and then begin employment.

When and to whom Kingston Economic Development Corporation discloses employee personal information

Kingston Economic Development Corporation does not rent or sell employee personal information. Kingston Economic Development Corporation will only disclose personal information to an organization with the employee's consent or for a purpose outlined in this policy.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation takes its obligation to protect employee personal information seriously. Both physical and electronic files are secured with limited authorized access.

Accuracy of personal information held by Kingston Economic Development Corporation

Kingston Economic Development Corporation makes every reasonable effort to ensure the accuracy and currency of employee's personal information. Employees are responsible for informing the Corporation in writing when personal information changes.

Accessing employee personal information held by Kingston Economic Development Corporation

Employees may request access to their personnel file to the CEO. Requests to view files will be scheduled, and employees shall review files on the premises of the Corporation. Employees may not remove information from their file.

There may be situations when the release of information in an employee personal file is legally prohibited. If Kingston Economic Development Corporation cannot release the personal information, the employee will be provided with the reasons for exclusion.

Security of employee personal information

The Corporation makes every reasonable effort to protect employee personal information by implementing security safeguards such as locked filing cabinets, password protected files, etc, to ensure against loss or theft, unauthorized access, disclosure, copying, use or modification.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation uses physical, organizational and technological measures as methods of protection.

Retention of Kingston Economic Development Corporation collected personal information

Kingston Economic Development Corporation keeps personal information as long as it is needed to fulfill the purposes identified in this policy and reviews any applicable provincial legislation for retention requirements.

Questions or concerns about the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Employee Personal Information Privacy Policy or Kingston Economic Development Corporation privacy practices

Employees may address any questions or concerns to the CEO. For more information about employee's personal privacy rights, contact the Privacy Commissioner of Canada at the web site: www.privcom.gc.ca or the provincial privacy commissioner in the appropriate jurisdiction. Ontario Information and Privacy Commissioner's Office at www.ipc.on.ca.

Third party reference requests

Any third-party reference requests may only be considered once the employee has authorized the release of this information in writing.

Only employees who hold a Managerial role are authorized to respond to third party reference requests for former employees on behalf of the corporation. If an employee is uncertain how to respond to a request, they may ask for the CEO to respond.

If the request is for information that relates to current or former employees of Kingston Economic Development Corporation with respect to job performance or employment history, responses should be limited to information that is job related, factual and objective.

If the request for information is related to a credit or loan application, only the CEO may reply and as an alternative may provide a letter of confirmation on Corporate letterhead that may be used by the individual.

2.5 Performance management

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to fostering a culture of excellence and continuous improvement. Performance management is a continuous process designed to position employees for success in achieving business goals.). Kingston Economic Development Corporation employs a performance management system that respects diverse perspectives, and which focuses on frequent communication, continuous education and training, and team development.

Purpose

To ensure the success of the organization, and the success of individual employees. The performance management process is used to:

- // Establish work standards set team and individual goals
- // Discuss areas for improvement
- // Note accomplishments and progress
- // Discuss employee development plan

Process

1. Managers/Supervisors set goals with direct reports on a semi-annual basis.
2. The goals are directly linked to the employee's job duties, the operating plan, and the Corporate strategic objectives.
3. Managers/Supervisors will review, revise and monitor progress with their direct reports throughout each quarter.
4. At the completion of each quarter, Managers shall report progress to the CEO. At the completion of each year, Managers/Supervisors will provide the office of the CEO with written individual progress reports to file for each employee.

Responsibilities

1. Managers/supervisors

- // Set timelines and standards for work to be performed.
- // Work with staff to ensure that duties, goals, and work standards are clearly communicated and understood.
- // Provide feedback that is relevant, timely, and constructive.
- // Manage performance of direct reports, and department (where applicable).

2. Employees

- // Ensuring that work standards, duties and goals are understood: if unclear, the employee shall seek clarification.
- // Completion of work tasks to determined schedule and standard.

2.5.2 Professional development policy

The Corporation is dedicated to supporting employee professional development opportunities that enhance both individual and corporate performance. Employee professional development is funded from the corporation's designated budget for these purposes. It's important to note that this policy does not cover personal development or personal interest courses.

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation recognizes the value of professional development and personal growth for its team members. We encourage team members interested in continuing education and job-specific training to discuss these opportunities with their supervisors. If the courses and seminars align with the professional development needs of individual team members and the organization as a whole, the Corporation will cover costs as outlined in the procedure below. Please note that books and other support materials are not eligible costs.

Reimbursement for approved courses will be provided to the team member upon successful course completion, verified through the submission of a final evaluation or credit. However, if a team member is participating and enrolled at the request of their manager on behalf of the company, the Corporation will pay the eligible costs directly.

Employees that participate in professional development paid for by the Corporation are expected to continue in the employ of Kingston Economic Development for a minimum of six (6) months following the successful completion of the course or program. If an employee chooses to leave the Corporation before completion of six months of service, they will be responsible for reimbursing 100% of the cost of the course or program to the Kingston Economic Development Corporation.

Procedure for allocation of professional development funds

Managers shall submit requests for professional development (PD) funds to the CEO by November 30 of each year for the following calendar year. Requests shall be reviewed, and funds allocated by January 2 of each year. The Corporation recognizes that course content and dates may fluctuate; therefore, managers are expected to base requests on the information available.

Requests for professional development received after November 30, or those less than $500, may be evaluated and considered by the CEO, contingent on funds available.

In accordance with development goals formulated in the employee's performance review and development plan, an employee completes a professional development request form. Under this policy, all requests for professional development are to be submitted in advance of registration and must be supported by the employee's supervisor.

An employee must have completed three (3) months of continuous service prior to the beginning of the approved PD, with the exception of executive programs which require twelve (12) months of continuous service.

An employee can apply for professional development support under any of the categories outlined in this policy. The categories are not independent of one another: an employee is not eligible for the annual maximum in every category for any given calendar year. Category maximums have been established to establish fairness and equity in the annual allocation of funds.

1. Work related courses

Where Kingston Economic Development Corporation formally requires an employee to take a work-related course in order to update the employee's qualifications for the employee's current job, the total cost of such course and associated costs will be paid by the corporation.

2. Training support

Employees may apply for training support to attend training seminars, workshops, conferences, or degree programs. The corporation may provide paid days off to pursue degree programs to a maximum of ten (10) days per calendar year.

3. Professional memberships

Where an employee is a member of a designated profession, the corporation may provide 100% reimbursement for membership and/or licensing fees required to maintain the designation, with a maximum calendar year benefit of $750. Designated professions include, but are not limited to Chartered Accountants, Human Resources Professionals, and Project Management Professionals

4. Executive/professional programs

Many professional programs require significant time away from the office, from three (3) to five (5) business days. In addition, registration fees for professional programs are costly. For those reasons, employees must have completed twelve (12) months of continuous service prior to the beginning of the program.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will endeavour to accommodate requests for professional programs for employees, within every two years of service. The following terms shall apply to professional programs:

// In the year that the employee participates in a professional program, the employee will not be eligible for additional training.

// In the calendar year following the completion of a professional program, the employee will not be eligible for PD in excess of $500.

// Participation in a professional program is subject to approval by the employee's supervisor and the CEO, based upon the operational needs of the department and the Corporation.

// Professional development is a shared responsibility, and the Corporation expects that an employee will continue employment with the corporation for a minimum of six (6) months following completion of a professional program.

5. Tuition reimbursement support

When an employee applies for tuition reimbursement support, the Corporation may provide 100% reimbursement with a maximum calendar year benefit of $1,500. Exam fees and courses specifically required for a professional certification are eligible for reimbursement.

Study or preparatory courses, text books, and school fees other than tuition are not eligible for reimbursement. Reimbursement is made only after an employee completes a course, with a grade of "B" or better or a notation of "Pass" for Pass/Fail courses. Kingston Economic Development Corporation will not reimburse employees for courses not successfully completed.

Upon completion of a course, the employee submits proof of passing the course along with receipt of payment.

2.5.3 Progressive discipline

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation is constantly seeking to establish and employ transparent and equitable standards for evaluating work performance. We work to foster an environment of trust and take responsibility for supporting employees whose work performance and efficiency have fallen below established standards through conversation, coaching, counselling, and correction..

The Corporation generally uses a progressive approach to performance and/or disciplinary issues. The Corporation reserves the right, however, to deviate from this progressive approach, in whole or in part, where it is of the view that circumstances warrant doing so. Where progressive discipline is not, in the opinion of Kingston Economic Development Corporation satisfactorily remedying the behavior, or where the behavior is sufficiently serious, employment may be immediately terminated in accordance with the termination provisions of the employment agreement.

The progressive discipline system outlined below has been established to ensure consistency, and to promote a positive work environment. Examples of instances requiring progressive discipline include, but are not limited to:

- // Unsatisfactory job performance
- // Perpetual lateness
- // Culpable absenteeism: absenteeism not excused by medical certificate; failure to call-in; or pattern of absenteeism
- // Insubordination
- // Unsafe work habits
- // Disruptive behaviour
- // Misconduct

Provisions

1. The process for progressive discipline involves the following steps:
 - // Counseling/coaching
 - // Assessment
 - // Verbal warning
 - // Assessment following verbal warning
 - // Written warning
 - // Unpaid suspension
 - // Dismissal
2. The progressive disciplinary process should be followed when deemed appropriate by the CEO.
3. Progressive discipline is not applicable to employees on probation and seasonal staff due to the short term of employment. However, probationary employees and seasonal staff should receive regular feedback from their immediate supervisor with respect to unsatisfactory performance or inappropriate behaviour.

Termination of probationary employees and seasonal staff shall meet the standards set out in the Employment Standards Act.

Procedure

Step 1: Counseling/coaching

This is an informal discussion between an employee and their direct supervisor regarding work performance or conduct. The intent is to bring the issue to the employee's attention and develop a mutually agreeable plan of action.

Step 2: Assessment

If there is little or no improvement within the time set out in the plan of action, the next step is a verbal warning.

Step 3: Verbal warning

The verbal warning is a discussion between an employee and their direct supervisor regarding work performance or conduct that has been repeated after coaching and assessment.

A timeline for improvement of the work performance and/or conduct shall be set, and recorded in the employee's personnel file.

Supervisors are responsible for providing the CEO with a statement for the employee's file including the date, nature of and reasons for the warning, and the timeline for improvement. The CEO will also sign this document.

Step 4: Assessment following verbal warning

If there is little or no improvement within the time period set out in the plan of action, the next step is a meeting between the employee, their direct supervisor to try and resolve the situation. The next step is a written warning.

Step 5: Written warning

A written warning is normally given to an employee who has already received a verbal warning for the same or similar offence. However, written warnings can be given without any previous written warning if the offence is sufficiently serious.

Supervisors should provide the employee an opportunity to address the misconduct prior to issuing a written warning.

The purpose of the written warning is to demonstrate that an earnest effort has been made to help the employee perform to expectations. The written warning will be signed by the CEO and provided to the employee and retained in the employee's personnel file.

Step 6: Suspension

Suspensions generally follow one or two written warnings; however, serious misconduct may merit a suspension without prior verbal or written warning.

Step 7: Dismissal

This is the most serious form of discipline and is normally taken only after an employee has been given every opportunity to improve their performance.

Occasionally, a very serious and flagrant breach of discipline may result in dismissal without prior warning. Dismissals which result from the application of the progressive discipline procedure are deemed.

Section 3.0

Employee relations

3.1 Workplace

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation is a small organization with a project-driven, team-based work environment.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to creating and maintaining a dynamic team environment where the dignity, self-worth and contribution of each employee is valued and respected. Kingston Economic Development Corporation will foster a culture which promotes positive and supportive interaction among team members free from discrimination, harassment, threats, intimidation, and violence.

3.2 Workplace violence, harassment and sexual harassment

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to building and maintaining a positive working environment for its employees free from violence, harassment and sexual harassment. The Corporation does not condone and will not tolerate any behaviour that may be considered violence, harassment or sexual harassment as defined in this policy and by the Employment Standards Act, Occupational Health and Safety Act, Ontario Human Rights Code, Workplace Safety and Insurance Act and the Criminal Code of Canada as amended. In the event of violence or harassment in the workplace, Kingston Economic Development Corporation will take all reasonable measures to protect employees and ensure a safe, healthy and respectful workplace.

All incidents of workplace violence, harassment and sexual harassment will be regarded as serious offences. Individuals who violate this Policy are subject to disciplinary and/or corrective action, up to and including termination of employment. It is also a violation of this policy for anyone to knowingly make a false complaint or to provide false information about a complaint.

This policy applies to all Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees, members of the Board of Directors, professional contractors, volunteers, and placement students and others who come into contact with Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees.

Definitions

1. "Workplace": for the purposes of this policy, the workplace refers to any physical or virtual location where employees or workers perform job-related tasks or activities as part of their employment. This includes:
 - // At the workplace.
 - // At employment-related functions.
 - // In the course of work assignments outside the workplace.
 - // During work-related travel.
 - // Over the telephone or online, if the conversation is work-related; or
 - // Elsewhere, if the person is there as a result of work-related responsibilities or a work-related relationship.
2. "Workplace Violence": means the attempted or actual exercise of physical force or power against a worker, in a workplace that causes or could cause physical injury to the worker. Specific examples of workplace violence may include, but not be limited to:

- // Verbally threatening to attack a worker.
- // Leaving threatening notes or sending threatening emails to a workplace.
- // Initiating a physical attack (hitting, shoving, pushing, or kicking).
- // Sexual assault.
- // Inflicting property damage, vandalism, or sabotage.
- // Domestic violence that comes into the workplace
- // Wielding a weapon at work.

3. "Domestic Violence" – refers to violence that is inflicted by a person who has a personal relationship with a worker – such as a spouse or former spouse, current or former intimate partner or a family member (parent, guardian, child, etc.) at work. In these situations, domestic violence is considered workplace violence.
4. "Harassment": means engaging in a course of vexatious comment or conduct that is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome." Harassment may also relate to a form of discrimination as set out in the Ontario Human Rights Code, but it does not have to.

Harassment may be either intentionally or unintentionally directed at an individual. However, the fact that the behaviour is unintentional does not mean that it is not harassment. It is not intent that counts it is the result. Prohibited Grounds: As named in the Ontario Human Rights Code: race, ancestry, place of origin, colour, ethnic origin, citizenship, creed, sex, sexual orientation, age, record of offences, marital or family status, or disability. Examples of harassment in the workplace include:

- // Sexual harassment (see full definition below)
- // Threatening behaviour such as shaking fists, destroying property or throwing objects.
- // Verbal or written threats - any expression of intent to inflict harm.
- // Any behaviour that demeans, embarrasses, humiliates, annoys, or alarms a person and that is known or would be expected to be unwelcome. This includes words, gestures, intimidation, bullying, or other inappropriate activities.
- // Verbal abuse - swearing, insults or condescending language.
- // Spreading malicious rumours or gossip or other vexatious conduct that is known or ought to be known to be unwelcome.

4. "Workplace Sexual Harassment": means engaging in a course of vexatious comment or conduct against a worker in a workplace because of sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expressed, where the course of comment or conduct is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome, or

Making a sexual solicitation or advance where the person making the solicitation or advance is in a position to confer, grant or deny a benefit or advancement to the worker and the person knows or ought reasonably to know that the solicitation or advance is unwelcome. Examples include:

- // Unwelcome physical contact such as touching, kissing, patting, or brushing up against a person.
- // Suggestive staring or other obscene or offensive gestures.
- // Physical assault.
- // Display of pornographic materials, including graffiti.
- // Unwelcome remarks, jokes, or taunting about a person's body, dress, or sex.
- // Enquiries or comments about a person's sex life, sexual preferences, etc.
- // Sexual coercion or unwanted sexual advances.
- // Cyberbullying and online harassment of a sexual nature.

What harassment does not include

The term harassment is often used incorrectly. It does not include:

- // Appropriate direction, evaluation or discipline by a manager or supervisor.
- // Stressful events associated with the performance of legitimate job duties.
- // Good-natured jesting and bantering which is mutually acceptable.
- // Friendly or romantic behaviour which is welcome and mutual.

Report obligations: Employees

If there is an immediate threat to anyone's safety, call 911 right away. If possible, remove yourself and others from the immediate danger and then report the incident to your immediate supervisor or the CEO.

Employees who believe they are victims of violence, harassment or sexual harassment in their working environment are advised to first respond to the alleged harasser directly, by objecting and by requesting that the unwelcome behaviour stop immediately. If this approach is unsuccessful, Kingston Economic Development Corporation must be made aware of all acts of violence, harassment or retaliation in order to take the appropriate action. Incidents of violence, harassment or inappropriate work behaviour should be reported to a manager. If your direct supervisor is not available, or you think it would be inappropriate to contact your supervisor, contact the CEO or Board Chair. You can discuss any concerns or report incidents without fear of reprisal.

Report obligations: supervisors and managers

Supervisors and managers are directed to take all appropriate steps to prevent and stop harassment in their areas of responsibility. Any supervisor or manager who is subjected to, witnesses, or is given written or verbal complaints of harassment acts or retaliation shall immediately report it to the CEO.

Supervisory personnel who are contacted by an individual seeking to file a complaint about harassment in their unit shall assist the complainant in contacting the CEO.

All managers/supervisors have a duty to deal with such incidents when they become aware that they are happening. Action should be taken even if a formal complaint is not filed. Managers/supervisors should notify the CEO and inform the complainant that they are required to do so. In the event that an incident of harassment is reported to the Ontario Human Rights Commission, the onus is on the employer to demonstrate that efforts have been made in good faith to prevent harassment, to stop it once it takes place and to correct any damage that has resulted. If the employer cannot demonstrate that such efforts have been made, there is a clear risk that both senior management and the organization will be held liable.

Procedure: employee is a target of unwanted behaviour

An employee who feels that s/he is a victim of harassment has several options available to them. Choosing the most appropriate is a matter of finding the one with which the employee is most comfortable, and which best fits the circumstances.

Dealing with an incident directly

Frequently, the most effective way to end harassment is to deal promptly and directly with the person involved. It is possible that the person is unaware that you consider their conduct to be unwelcome and distasteful. Tell the person clearly and firmly that and that you consider their conduct to be unwelcome, and that the behaviour is against company policy.

If an employee chooses to deal with an incident themselves, it may be useful to have a witness present or to make a note of the conversation afterwards. It is important that the employee keeps such a written record of the incident(s), including dates, times, the nature of the behaviour, and witnesses, if any, as this kind of documentation could help to validate any complaint in future.

Seeking assistance

If an employee feels uncomfortable dealing with the incident themselves, or if they have tried to deal with the situation but the behaviour has continued, the employee may choose to seek assistance from their supervisor or the CEO, depending on the circumstances.

Filing a complaint

1. Informal complaints

An employee may specifically request that the matter be dealt with on an informal basis with the assistance of the CEO or an employee's supervisor.

It is often the case that harassment is the result of a communication problem and that once this has been identified the matter can be resolved fairly easily without going to a full investigation.

If an informal resolution of the complaint is achieved, no record of the complaint will be entered in the Respondent's personnel records. However, the CEO will record the occurrence of the complaint and the informal resolution achieved. This record will remain confidential.

2. Formal complaints

A formal complaint may be filed within a reasonable time of the harassment. However, the sooner an employee files, the easier it will be to establish facts and resolve the case satisfactorily. Employees should complete the Workplace Violence, Harassment and Sexual Harassment Complaint Form and submit it to the CEO.

Once a written complaint has been received the Corporation will complete a thorough investigation within a reasonable timeframe.

1. The Company will do its best to protect from unnecessary disclosure the details of the incident being investigated and the identities of the complaining party and that of the alleged respondent.
2. During the investigation, the complainant and the respondent will be interviewed along with any possible witnesses. Statements from all parties involved will be taken.
3. If necessary, Kingston Economic Development may employ outside assistance or request the use of our legal counsel.
4. Employees will not be demoted, dismissed, disciplined or denied a promotion, advancement or employment opportunities because they rejected sexual advances of another employee or because they lodged a harassment complaint when they honestly believed they were being harassed.

In a situation where the complainant decides not to lay a formal complaint, the CEO may decide that a formal complaint is required (based on the investigation of the incident) and will file such document(s) with the person(s) against whom the complaint is laid (the respondent(s)).

Procedure: Investigation

Kingston Economic Development Corporation seeks to complete investigations in a reasonable time frame. Investigations will begin no longer than seven (7) business days following the receipt of a complaint.

The Corporation may choose to engage a third party to conduct the investigation at its sole discretion. The following steps are undertaken:

1. The Corporation appoints a competent investigator.
2. The investigator reviews the written complaint form, or when one does not exist, asks the complainant to complete the form in detail.
3. Investigator meets with and interviews the complainant and identifies any potential witnesses. The investigator prepares a statement of complaint for review by the complainant.
4. When the statement of complaint is finalized, the investigator will provide it to the respondent in writing and request their response.

5. The investigator will make reasonable efforts to interview witnesses, including witnesses who are not employed by the Corporation.
6. The investigator will review applicable Corporate policies and legislation.
7. In some circumstances the investigator may review additional evidence or information in the possession of the complainant, the respondent or the Corporation.
8. At the conclusion of an investigation, the investigator shall prepare a written report which shall include a statement of factual findings and a determination of whether the policy has been violated. The report shall be presented for review to law enforcement officials or legal counsel, as necessary.
9. The CEO will review the report and provide both the complainant and the respondent with an Executive Summary including any actions to be taken.

The severity, frequency and pervasiveness of the conduct will be taken into consideration when imposing corrective action or discipline.

In all cases, Kingston Economic Development Corporation shall retain the findings report for the period required by law or for as long as any administrative or legal action arising out of the complaint is pending.

Record Keeping

The Corporation will ensure that appropriate records of complaints and investigations relating to incidents of workplace violence, harassment and sexual harassment are kept, including:

// A copy of the complaint or details about the incident (i.e. Workplace Violence, Harassment and Sexual Harassment Incident Report Form);

// Any records related to the investigation, including notes;

// A copy of the investigation report (if applicable);

// A summary of the investigation results, including the reports provided to the complainant and respondent; and

Confidentiality

Kingston Economic Development will not disclose the name of a complainant/respondent/witness, or the circumstances related to the complaint to any person except where disclosure is necessary to investigate the complaint or necessary to take corrective action with respect to the complaint, or as required by law. The company will only disclose the minimum amount of personal information or details necessary for these purposes.

All parties involved in an investigation are bound to maintain confidentiality throughout all stages of the investigation process to protect as much as possible the privacy and reputation of all parties concerned. All records of violence, harassment and sexual harassment reports and subsequent investigations are considered confidential and will not be disclosed to anyone except to the extent required by law

The Corporation will do everything reasonably possible to protect the privacy of any individuals involved and to ensure that complainants and respondents are treated fairly and respectfully. However, it must be recognized that, to the extent the complainant or respondent choose to initiate proceedings or make comments outside the formal complaint process, confidentiality cannot be guaranteed.

Fraudulent or Malicious Complaints

It is a violation of this Policy for anyone to, knowingly, make a false complaint, or to provide false information about a complaint. Unfounded or frivolous allegations may cause both the accused person and the Corporation significant damage. Any worker who knowingly makes a false allegation related to violence, harassment or sexual harassment will be subject to disciplinary action. That said, Kingston Economic Development Corporation encourages workers to report any real or perceived incidents, which will always be taken seriously and will be free from reprisal.

Disciplinary Measures

Any disciplinary action will be determined by the CEO, proportional to the seriousness (i.e. severity, frequency, pervasiveness, impact) of the behaviour or action involved in the incident.

If it is determined by the company that a worker has been involved in an incident of violence, harassment or sexual harassment towards another individual, immediate disciplinary action will be taken, up to and including immediate dismissal.

No Reprisal

All employees involved in cases of workplace violence, harassment or sexual harassment are protected from reprisal or the threat of reprisal under this policy.

Reprisal may include a denial or threat of denial of any employment-related opportunity (e.g. promotion, training, etc.); discipline or the threat of disciplinary action, including dismissal; ostracism of the complainant by other employees; or other forms of intimidation. These and any other kind of reprisal will be subject to disciplinary action.

The Right to Refuse Unsafe Work

Workers have the right to refuse work if they have a reason to believe that workplace violence is likely to endanger them. Upon refusing to work, the worker must report the circumstance of the refusal to their direct supervisor and the CEO and an investigation will follow.

Employees' right of redress

This policy in no way infringes upon an employee's right of redress through the procedures established by the Ontario Human Rights Code.

Section 4.0

Occupational health and safety

4.1 Health and safety policy statement

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to providing a safe and healthy workplace for all employees, contractors, visitors, and other stakeholders. We recognize that the well-being of our employees is of utmost importance and is integral to our business success. To ensure a safe and healthy work environment, the Corporation is dedicated to complying with all applicable health and safety legislation and implementing best practices in health and safety management.

Responsibilities:

At Kingston Economic Development, the following responsibilities are established to promote health and safety:

1. Senior management is responsible for providing leadership and resources to establish, implement, and maintain effective health and safety programs. They are also accountable for setting objectives and continuously improving health and safety performance.
2. Supervisors and managers are responsible for the safety of their teams, ensuring that employees receive proper training, and that work is carried out in accordance with established health and safety policies and procedures.
3. Employees are responsible for working in a safe and healthy manner, reporting hazards and incidents, and cooperating with health and safety initiatives.

Key Principles:

Kingston Economic Development Corporation adheres to the following key principles in its commitment to health and safety:

1. Prevention: We prioritize the prevention of accidents, injuries, and occupational illnesses by identifying and mitigating hazards.
2. Compliance: We comply with all applicable health and safety laws, regulations, and industry standards, including the Occupational Health and Safety Act and its regulations.
3. Training and Awareness: We provide employees with the necessary training, information, and resources to work safely, and we encourage active participation in health and safety initiatives.

By following this Health and Safety Policy, the Corporation aims to protect the well-being of its employees and stakeholders, prevent injuries and incidents, and foster a culture of safety excellence.

The management team is accountable for ensuring

// A safe, healthy and respectful work environment is maintained.

// Any equipment provided is in a proper and safe condition.

// All legislative requirements are met or exceeded.

// All employees are informed of established legislation and follow safe work practices and procedures employees receive adequate training to protect their health and safety.

// Every reasonable precaution is taken to protect employees and to reduce the risk of injury and violence at work.

// All employee accidents are properly investigated, and preventative measures are implemented.

All employees and contractors must protect their own health and safety and are accountable for ensuring:

// Legislative requirements and safe work practices established by management are followed.

// All accidents and unsafe conditions are reported to their supervisor or a member of the management team.

4.2 Health and safety

At Kingston Economic Development Corporation, the safety and health of our employees comes first. Management is committed to doing everything possible to prevent injuries and to maintain a healthy working environment. All employees shall protect their own health and safety by working in compliance with prevailing regulations and standards.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to the prevention of illness and injury through the provision and maintenance of healthy and safe conditions. The Corporation adheres to relevant health and safety standards and legislative requirements.

Definitions

1. "Incident": is any event or occurrence that results in injury, illness, damage to property, or has the potential to cause harm.
2. "Near Miss": refers to an incident where no injury or damage occurs but has the potential to result in harm.
3. "Hazard": is a potential source or situation that has the capacity to cause harm, injury, damage to property, or adverse health effects to people.

Principles

The Corporation is committed to ensure that all employees adhere to the following principles of occupational health and safety:

1. Health and safety is a major responsibility of every employee.
2. Occupational health and safety is an essential aspect of all employees' work environments.
3. Preventative measures shall be taken to eliminate any risk of occupational illness or injury

Management and employee obligations

1. Management and supervisors shall:
 - // Appoint competent persons (as defined in the OHS Act) to supervisory positions.
 - // Ensure that employees are trained in and follow safe work procedures.
 - // Identify and communicate workplace risks and hazards, to employees and address safety violations.
 - // Provide training on this policy and applicable procedures to employees.
2. Employees shall:
 - // Comply with all safety policies, procedures, and instructions and follow established safe work practices.
 - // Report all workplace incidents, injuries, illnesses, and near misses promptly and accurately.
 - // Contribute to the development of a positive safety culture by encouraging safe behaviors and looking out for the safety of oneself and others.

Incident reporting

Prompt and accurate reporting of all workplace incidents, injuries, near misses, and hazards is essential for the prevention of future incidents. Employees must report all workplace incidents to their direct supervisor or another member of the management team, and record the details in writing.

1. Provide a detailed and accurate account of the incident, including the date, time, location, individuals involved, and the circumstances surrounding the incident.
2. In the event of a medical emergency or an incident that requires immediate attention, ensure the safety of those involved and call emergency services (e.g., 911) if necessary. Provide first aid or medical assistance if trained and qualified to do so

Kingston Economic Development will report incidents as required to the workplace insurance and safety board, compliant with the legislation.

Workplace cleanliness

Workplace cleanliness is a safety measure. Cleanliness helps to control pests and is essential to comply with fire and safety regulations. Kingston Economic Development is a customer-facing organization with frequent in-person visits from stakeholders and clients. An orderly workplace is necessary to maintain the safety of both employees and visitors.

Employee responsibilities:

- // Maintain a clean and orderly workspace and manage document storage to reduce clutter..
- // Keep aisles clear, do not block exits.
- // Stack items in an orderly and safe manner.
- // Do not keep perishable goods in your workspace.
- // Clean up after yourself when using public spaces including meeting rooms, kitchen, reception area, or copy room.

Scent-free workplace and indoor air quality

The use of scented products in an indoor environment may impact on co-worker's health. Scented products can contain, in low concentrations, many different types of chemicals, some of which are respiratory irritants and are known to have neurological or systemic effects at high concentrations.

As an employer, Kingston Economic Development Corporation is obligated to take every precaution reasonable in the circumstances for the protection of worker health and safety. Similarly, employees need to take reasonable measures to protect themselves and their co-workers.

1. Procedure: Scent source known

If it is clear that the source of the irritation is a particular scent emanating from a co-worker, approach the individual in a positive manner and share your concerns about the issue in your area. Express how the use of the scented product is causing discomfort and affecting your health or general working situation.

If you are unable to resolve the concerns with your co-worker or you do not feel comfortable approaching the individual, approach your supervisor with your concern.

2. Procedure: Scent source unknown or general indoor air quality issue

If the scent problem is more generalized and/or the source is unidentifiable approach your supervisor with your concern.

If your area in the workplace is sufficiently severe that you are unable to perform your work or must seek medical attention, report the incident in writing to your direct supervisor or a member of the management team if your supervisor is unavailable.

4.3 Workplace violence policy

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to preventing workplace violence and maintaining a safe work environment. We will not tolerate violence, threats of violence, harassment, intimidation or other disruptive conduct by our employees. Although some incidents or situations involving workplace violence may be the result of larger societal problems outside of our control, Kingston Economic Development Corporation firmly believes that by working together with our employees, the risk of workplace violence can be minimized.

This policy applies to all Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees, members of the Board of Directors, professional contractors, volunteers, placement students, and others who come into contact with Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees.

Definitions

1. "Workplace violence" is the attempted or actual exercise of physical force or power by a person against a worker, in a workplace, that could cause physical injury.
2. "Psychological violence" is an action or set of actions that directly impairs the victim's psychological integrity, including, but not limited to intimidation, harassment, threats or bullying.
3. "Bullying" is persistent personal abuse which humiliates and demeans a worker.
4. "Domestic Violence" – refers to violence that is inflicted by a person who has a personal relationship with a worker – such as a spouse or former spouse, current or former intimate partner or a family member (parent, guardian, child, etc.) at work. In these situations, domestic violence is considered workplace violence.

Weapons

Kingston Economic Development Corporation maintains a full and total ban on the possession of weapons on Kingston Economic Development Corporation premises. This includes weapons either kept or transported in any vehicle on Kingston Economic Development Corporation premises.

Weapons shall be prohibited while conducting Kingston Economic Development Corporation business off-site. Weapons shall be defined as, but not limited to: any gun, knife or other item held with intent to cause bodily harm.

Domestic violence

Unfortunately, domestic violence is more prevalent in our communities than we would like to believe. Kingston Economic Development Corporation respects the privacy of our employees, and we strive to ensure a secure working environment where every employee feels respected and valued.

If you or a co-worker is experiencing domestic violence, Kingston Economic Development Corporation would encourage you to contact the Employee Assistance Program (EAP). EAP is a confidential service, provided through a third party.

Should you witness the a dutyssment of or violence against a co-worker by someone with whom they have a close personal relationship, you have duty to report the incident as outlined in Incident Reporting, above.

If you have applied for or have a protective or restraining order, and it lists Kingston Economic Development Corporation locations as being protected areas, you must provide the office of the CEO with a copy of the petition and declarations used to seek the order, as well as a copy of any protective or restraining order.

Recognizing domestic violence in the workplace

Incidents of Domestic Violence whether experienced or witnessed should be reported as a violent incident per company policy. Potential signs of domestic violence are outlined below.:

The victim may:

- // Try to cover bruises.
- // Be sad, lonely, withdrawn.
- // Have trouble concentrating on a task.
- // Apologize for the abuser's behaviour.
- // Be nervous when the abuser is in the workplace.
- // Make last-minute excuses or cancellations.
- // Miss work frequently or more often than usual.

The abuser may interfere with the victim while at work by:

- // Repeatedly phoning or emailing the victim.
- // Stalking and/or watching the victim.
- // Showing up at the workplace and pestering co-workers with questions about the victim. (Where are they? Who are they with? When will they be back?)
- // Displaying jealous and controlling behaviours.
- // Threatening co-workers (if you don't tell me I'll?).
- // Verbally abusing the victim or co-workers.
- // Destroying the victim's or the organization's property; or
- // Physically harming the victim and /or co-workers.

The abuser may attempt to prevent the victim from getting to work by:

- // Interfering with transportation by hiding or stealing the victim's car keys or transportation money.
- // Hiding or stealing the victim's identification cards.
- // Threatening deportation in a situation where the victim was sponsored.
- // Failing to show up to care for children; or
- // Physically restraining the victim

Incident Reporting

Report any violence or potentially violent situations immediately your supervisor and the CEO. A written report should follow the initial report of the violent incident. Employees can access the Violent Incident Report in the shared drive.

If the situation involves an immediate threat to your personal safety or the safety of a co-worker call 9- All reports shall be investigated.

Procedure: Investigation

Kingston Economic Development Corporation seeks to complete investigations in a reasonable time frame. The Corporation may choose to engage a third party to conduct the investigation at its sole discretion. Depending on the circumstances, a criminal investigation may also be conducted by the police.

For an internal investigation, the following steps are undertaken:

1. The Corporation appoints a competent investigator.
2. The investigator reviews the written complaint form.
3. Investigator meets with and interviews the complainant and identifies any potential witnesses. The investigator prepares a statement of complaint for review by the complainant.

4. The investigator will make reasonable efforts to interview witnesses, including witnesses who are not employed by the Corporation.
5. The investigator will review applicable Corporate policies and legislation.
6. In some circumstances the investigator may review additional evidence or information that could include video footage, and electronic or other correspondence from either internal or external sources.
7. At the conclusion of an investigation, the investigator shall prepare a written report which shall include a statement of factual findings and a determination of whether the policy has been violated. The report shall be presented for review to law enforcement officials or legal counsel, as necessary.

Violent acts by Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees

Any employee who threatens, harasses or abuses another employee, or any other individual at or from the workplace shall be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, and the pursuit of legal action.

Violent action, threats and harassment are serious criminal offences, and shall be dealt with appropriately.

Violent acts by non-employees

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is dedicated to protecting the safety of our employees in all interactions with stakeholders or other members of the public. Violence and/or disrespectful behaviour that may cause harm, discomfort, or offence to our employees is not tolerated.

Disrespectful or abusive behaviour:

Abusive conduct does not necessarily include physical violence, but physical violence often starts with abusive conduct. Abusive conduct includes but is not limited to:

- // Demeaning, degrading, intimidating, offensive, or otherwise abusive expressions.
- // Physical intimidation including threatening gestures, or invasion of personal space.
- // Unwelcome sexual attention.
- // Bullying.
- // Stalking.

No form of abuse is acceptable. Employees faced with disrespectful or abusive behaviour should follow these guidelines:

- // Ask the client/stakeholder/member of the public to stop. Do this right away, before the unwanted behavior becomes a pattern.
- // Be specific when you ask the individual to stop the behaviour:
 - Please stop swearing, if you are unable to stop using that language, I am not able to help you.
 - I am afraid that if you continue to yell, I am unable to help you.
 - I need to ask you to step back, I cannot help you when you are in my personal space.
 - If the behaviour persists, end the interaction whether virtual or in-person.
 - I understand that you are angry/disappointed/frustrated, but I have to ask you to leave the premises now or I am going to sign off from this meeting/telephone call.
 - If an individual refuses to leave the premises, or persists with the unacceptable behaviour, call security and/or the police.
 - Report the incident to your supervisor and the CEO and complete the Violent Incident Report
 - If you believe you are being followed or stalked, call the police.
 - If the threat or abuse is from someone directly connected to your personal life, call the police, especially if the situation is escalating.

Violence

When violence is committed by non-employees, Kingston Economic Development Corporation shall engage authorities as warranted, and follow the internal investigation procedure. The Corporation shall provide assistance to employees, as warranted by the incident.

The Employee Assistance Program is available to all employees and their family members, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Additional assistance from Kingston Economic Development Corporation may include:

- // Temporary provision of a mobile device with local service and 911 connection.
- // Modified work schedules or location transfers.
- // Crisis counseling.
- // Escorts to and from vehicle or public transportation.

Record Keeping

The Corporation will ensure that appropriate records of complaints and investigations relating to incidents of workplace violence are kept, including:

- // A copy of the complaint or details about the incident (i.e. Workplace Violence, Harassment and Sexual Harassment Incident Report Form);
- // Any records related to the investigation, including notes;
- // A copy of the investigation report (if applicable);
- // A summary of the investigation results, including the reports provided to the complainant and respondent; and
- // A copy of any corrective action taken to address the complaint or incident.

4.4 Fit for duty policy

Kingston Economic Development Corporation has an obligation to protect the health and safety of all individuals by ensuring that all employees performing work are fit for duty, as defined in this policy.

Definitions

1. "Fit for Duty" means that a worker is able to safely and/or acceptably perform assigned duties without any limitations resulting from, but not limited to: the use or after-effects of illicit drugs, alcohol, and/or medications; the misuse of and/or failure to take prescribed medications; and/or extreme fatigue/stress. It is a condition where a worker is physically, physiologically and psychologically capable and competent of performing their duties safely.
2. "Worker" means a person who performs work or supplies services for the Company.
3. "Alcohol" refers to beer, wine and distilled spirits, and includes the intoxicating agent found in medicines or other products.
4. "Drug" means any substance, including but not limited to alcohol, illicit drugs, medications, or other substances the use of which has the potential to change or adversely affect the way a person thinks, feels or acts. For purposes of this procedure, drugs of concern are those that inhibit a worker's ability to perform work safely and productively.
5. "Drug Paraphernalia" means any personal property associated with the use of any drug, substance, chemical or agent, the possession of which is unlawful.
6. "Extreme Fatigue/Stress" means physical and/or mental exhaustion that reduces a person's alertness such that a safety hazard is created or results in an inability to safely perform work.
7. "Illicit Drug" means any drug or substance which is not legally obtainable and whose use, sale, possession, purchase or transfer is restricted or prohibited by law (e.g. street drugs such as marijuana and cocaine).
8. "Medication" refers to a drug obtained legally, either over-the-counter or through a medical practitioner's prescription.

9. "On duty" is the time period commencing from when a worker reports to perform work up until the time they cease to perform work for the day, and includes meals and other breaks. On Duty also includes all time periods in which an employee is carrying out work duties on behalf of the Corporation including but not limited to attending business social events, seminars, training, or travelling.

4.4.1 Responsibilities

Managers and Supervisors

Monitor and observe workers to ensure they present as fit to perform work. This may include but is not limited to attendance, performance, and behaviour.:

Initiate the steps required to be followed when presented with reasonable suspicion (circumstances or knowledge) that indicate a worker may not be fit for duty in consultation with the CEO. Steps may include:

1. Removing a worker deemed not fit for duty from the workplace in a safe manner, including but not limited to arranging transportation for the worker or calling 911 if there is an immediate safety threat.
2. Review and communicate results of evaluation to employee.
3. Implement any reasonable accommodation upon return to work as deemed necessary.
4. Maintain the confidentiality of an employee's medical information.

Workers

1. Report fit for duty and remain fit while on duty on or offsite.
2. Notify supervisor when not fit for duty.
3. Notify supervisor when a coworker is observed acting in a manner that indicates the coworker may not be fit for duty.
4. Responsibly use all medications (including medical cannabis).
5. Investigate (through their doctor or pharmacist) whether a medication can adversely affect performance or the safe operation of any equipment or machinery, including vehicles.
6. Cooperate with any investigation.
7. Provide relevant medical information when reasonably required.

4.4.2 Prohibitions

The following conduct is prohibited while on duty. This list is not exhaustive and is not limited to the items outlined below:

// Reporting for duty or remaining on duty under the influence of drugs, illicit drugs or alcohol.

// Consuming any drugs, illicit drugs or alcohol during work and/or breaks.

// Possession of prescribed medications without a legally obtained prescription.

// Intentional misuse of medications (e.g. using the medication not as prescribed, using someone else's medication or combining medication and alcohol use against direction).

// Using, possessing, distributing, offering or selling drugs, illicit drugs, drug paraphernalia, medication or alcohol (trafficking).

4.4.3 Investigations

If workers are thought to be impaired, found in possession of a banned substance in the workplace or self-disclose use of such, an investigation is required to determine whether there is:

// A breach of policy.

// A safety issue.

// An accommodation issue.

Internal investigations will comply with the procedure outlined in Section 3.2 "Workplace Violence, Harassment and Sexual Harassment". The employee will be provided with the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) information, and the Corporation reserves the right to reassign or suspend the employee during the investigation process.

An employee found to be in violation of this policy shall be subject to corrective action, a return-to-work program and/or disciplinary measures consistent with the Corporation's progressive discipline policy.

Section 5.0

Accessible customer service policy

5.1 Intent

This policy is intended to meet the requirements of Accessibility Standards for Customer Service, Ontario Regulation 429/07 under the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005, and applies to the provision of goods and services to the public or other third parties, not to the goods themselves.

All goods and services provided by Kingston Economic Development Corporation shall follow the principles of dignity, independence, integration and equal opportunity.

5.2 Scope

1. This policy applies to the provision of goods and services at premises owned and operated by Kingston Economic Development Corporation.
2. This policy applies to employees, volunteers, agents and/or contractors who deal with the public.
3. The section of this policy that addresses the use of guide dogs, service animals and service dogs only applies to the provision of goods and services that take place at premises owned and operated by Kingston Economic Development Corporation.
4. This policy shall also apply to all persons who participate in the development of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation's policies, practices and procedures governing the provision of goods and services to members of the public or third parties.

Definitions

1. Assistive device – is a technical aid, communication device or other instrument that is used to maintain or improve the functional abilities of people with disabilities. Personal assistive devices are typically devices that customers bring with them such as a wheelchair, walker or a personal oxygen tank that might assist in hearing, seeing, communicating, moving, breathing, remembering and/or reading.
2. Disability – the term disability as defined by the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005, and the Ontario Human Rights Code, refers to:
 - // Any degree of physical disability, infirmity, malformation or disfigurement that is caused by bodily injury, birth defect or illness and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, includes diabetes mellitus, epilepsy, a brain injury, any degree of paralysis, amputation, lack of physical co-ordination, blindness or visual impediment, deafness or hearing impediment, muteness or speech impediment, or physical reliance on a guide dog or other animal or on a wheelchair or other remedial appliance or device.
 - // A condition of mental impairment or a developmental disability.

// A learning disability, or dysfunction in one or more of the processes involved in understanding or using symbols or spoken language.

// A mental disorder; or

// An injury or disability for which benefits were claimed or received under the insurance plan established under the Workplace Safety and Insurance Act, 1997.

3. Guide dog – is a highly-trained working dog that has been trained at one of the facilities listed in Ontario Regulation 58 under the Blind Persons' Rights Act, to provide mobility, safety and increased independence for people who are blind.
4. Service animal – as reflected in Ontario Regulation 429/07, an animal is a service animal for a person with a disability if:
 - // It is readily apparent that the animal is used by the person for reasons relating to their disability; or
 - // If the person provides a letter from a physician or nurse confirming that the person requires the animal for reasons relating to the disability.
5. Service dog – as reflected in Health Protection and Promotion Act, Ontario Regulation 562 a dog other than a guide dog for the blind is a service dog if:
 - // It is readily apparent to an average person that the dog functions as a service dog for a person with a medical disability.
 - // Or the person who requires the dog can provide on request a letter from a physician or nurse confirming that the person requires a service dog.
6. Support person – as reflected in Ontario Regulation 429/07, a support person means, in relation to a person with a disability, another person who accompanies them in order to help with communication, mobility, personal care, medical needs or access to goods and services.

General principles

In accordance with the Accessibility Standards for Customer Service, Ontario Regulation 429/07, this policy addresses the following:

1. The Provision of Goods and Services to Persons with Disabilities.
2. The Use of Assistive Devices.
3. The Use of Guide Dogs, Service Animals and Service Dogs.
4. The Use of Support Persons.
5. Notice of Service Disruptions.
6. Customer Feedback.
7. Training.
8. Notice of Availability and Format of Required Documents.

1. The provision of goods and services to persons with disabilities

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will make every reasonable effort to ensure that its policies, practices and procedures are consistent with the principles of dignity, independence, integration and equal opportunity by:

// Ensuring that all customers receive the same value and quality.

// Allowing customers with disabilities to do things in their own ways, at their own pace when accessing goods and services as long as this does not present a safety risk.

// Using alternative methods when possible to ensure that customers with disabilities have access to the same services, in the same place and in a similar manner.

// Taking into account individual needs when providing goods and services.

// Communicating in a manner that takes into account the customer's disability.

2. Assistive devices

Persons with disabilities may use their own assistive devices as required when accessing goods or services provided by Kingston Economic Development Corporation.

In cases where the assistive device presents a safety concern or where accessibility might be an issue, other reasonable measures will be used to ensure the access of goods and services. For example, open flames and oxygen tanks cannot be near one another. Therefore, the accommodation of a customer with an oxygen tank may involve ensuring the customer is in a location that would be considered safe for both the customer and business. Or, where elevators are not present and where an individual requires assistive devices for the purposes of mobility, service will be provided in a location that meets the needs of the customer.

3. Guide dogs, service animals and service dogs

A customer with a disability that is accompanied by guide dog, service animal or service dog will be allowed access to premises that are open to the public unless otherwise excluded by law. "No pet" policies do not apply to guide dogs, service animals and/or service dogs.

Recognizing a guide dog, service dog and/or service animal:

If it is not readily apparent that the animal is being used by the customer for reasons relating to their disability, Kingston Economic Development Corporation may request verification from the customer.

Verification may include:

// A letter from a physician or nurse confirming that the person requires the animal for reasons related to the disability.

// A valid identification card signed by the Attorney General of Canada.

// A certificate of training from a recognized guide dog or service animal training school.

Care and control of the animal

The customer that is accompanied by a guide dog, service dog and/or service animal is responsible for maintaining care and control of the animal at all time.

Allergies

If a health and safety concern presents itself for example in the form of a severe allergy to the animal, Kingston Economic Development Corporation will make all reasonable efforts to meet the needs of all individuals.

4. Support persons

If a customer with a disability is accompanied by a support person, Kingston Economic Development Corporation will ensure that both persons are allowed to enter the premises together and that the customer is not prevented from having access to the support person.

There may be times where seating and availability prevent the customer and support person from sitting beside each other. In these situations, Kingston Economic Development Corporation will make every reasonable attempt to resolve the issue.

In situations where confidential information might be discussed, consent will be obtained from the customer, prior to any conversation where confidential information might be discussed.

Fees will not be charged for support persons for admission to Kingston Economic Development Corporation's events. Customers will be informed of this by a notice that will be posted on Kingston Economic Development Corporation's websites and registration forms.

5. Notice of disruptions in service

Service disruptions may occur due to reasons that may or may not be within the control or knowledge of Kingston Economic Development Corporation. In the event of any temporary disruptions to facilities or services that customer's with disabilities rely on to access or use Kingston Economic Development Corporation's goods or services, reasonable efforts will be made to provide advance notice. In some circumstances such as in the situation of unplanned temporary disruptions, advance notice may not be possible.

Notifications will include

In the event that a notification needs to be posted the following information will be included unless it is not readily available or known:

// Goods or services that are disrupted or unavailable.

// Reason for the disruption.

// Anticipated duration.

// A description of alternative services or options.

Notifications options

When disruptions occur Kingston Economic Development Corporation will provide notice by:

// Posting notices in conspicuous places including at the point of disruption, at the main entrance and the nearest accessible entrance to the service disruption and/or on the Kingston Economic Development Corporation website.

// Contacting customers with appointments.

// By any other method that may be reasonable under the circumstances.

6. Feedback process

Kingston Economic Development Corporation shall provide customers with the opportunity to provide feedback on the service provided to customers with disabilities. Information about the feedback process will be readily available to all customers and notice of the process will be made available by (verbal/written notification from Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees and Kingston Economic Development Corporation website). Feedback forms along with alternate methods of providing feedback such as verbally (in person or by telephone) or written (hand written, delivered, or email), will be available upon request.

Customers can submit feedback to:

Donna Gillespie

366 King Street East, Suite 420,
Kingston, Ontario, Canada, K7K 6Y3

613-544-2725 ext 7270
Gillespie@investkingston.ca

Customers who wish to provide feedback by completing an onsite customer feedback form or verbally can do so to any Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee. Customers that provide formal feedback will receive acknowledgement of their feedback, along with any resulting actions based on concerns or complaints that were submitted.

7. Training

Training will be provided to:

- // All employees, volunteers, agents and/or contractors who deal with the public or other third parties that act on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation; for example: salespersons and contract trades persons.
- // Those who are involved in the development and approval of customer service policies, practices and procedures.

Training provisions

As reflected in Ontario Regulation 429/07, regardless of the format, training will cover the following:

- // A review of the purpose of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005.
- // A review of the requirements of the Accessibility Standards for Customer Service, Ontario Regulation 429/07.
- // Instructions on how to interact and communicate with people with various types of disabilities.
- // Instructions on how to interact with people with disabilities who:
 - o Use assistive devices.
 - o Require the assistance of a guide dog, service dog or other service animal.
 - o Require the use of a support person (including the handling of admission fees).
 - o Instructions on how to use equipment or devices that are available at our premises or that we provide that may help people with disabilities.
 - o Instructions on what to do if a person with a disability is having difficulty accessing your services.
 - o Kingston Economic Development Corporation 's policies, procedures and practices pertaining to providing accessible customer service to customers with disabilities.

Training schedule

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will provide training as soon as practicable. Training will be provided to new employees, volunteers, agents and/or contractor who deal with the public or act on our behalf (during the probationary period). Revised training will be provided in the event of changes to legislation, procedures and/or practices.

Record of training:

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will keep a record of training that includes the dates training was provided and the number of employees who attended the training.

8. Notice of availability and format of documents

Kingston Economic Development Corporation shall notify customers that the documents related to the Accessibility Standard for Customer Service are available upon request and in a format that takes into account the customer's disability. Notification will be given by posting the information in a conspicuous place owned and operated by Kingston Economic Development Corporation, the Kingston Economic Development Corporation's website and/or any other reasonable method.

This policy and its related procedures will be reviewed as required in the event of legislative changes.

Section 6.0

Information management

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is the business development and marketing arm for the City of Kingston, Ontario. Governed by a municipally appointed Board of Directors, Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to transparent and accountable operating procedures.

The Corporation also has a commitment to protect the personal information and intellectual property of the Corporation, its employees, its clients, and its stakeholders.

To ensure that protection of privacy is balanced with access to information, the Corporation adheres to the standards and legislative requirements of the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act 2004 (PIPEDA), the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (1988) and the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act 1990 (MFIPPA).

6.1 Recorded information management

Recorded information management applies systematic controls and standards to the creation, security, use, documentation, retention, conversion, disposition and preservation of recorded information.

The purpose of this policy is to manage information to meet all legislated requirements for record keeping; ensure information is readily available for decision making; and protect the integrity and authenticity of records.

The Confidentiality and Non-Disclosure Policy (section 1.4) outlines the obligations of Kingston Economic Development Corporation staff, contract staff, professional contractors, and Board members in handling client information.

Definitions

1. Record: Any information, however recorded, and regardless of its form or characteristics. Records include, but are not limited to: correspondence, memoranda, books, maps, plans, photographs, drawings, diagrams, pictorial or graphic works, films, microforms, sound recordings, videotapes, computer generated files, and electronic mail transmissions.
2. Intellectual property: An asset of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation, and includes, but is not limited to: research conducted for the Corporation; information collected for, and stored with the Corporation; written materials developed for the Corporation; marketing techniques; design elements commissioned for the Corporation; client information, which may include intellectual property of an outside Corporation; Kingston Economic Development Corporation products and services; trade secrets; copyright material; information that may be protected by solicitor- client privilege or intellectual property rights
3. PIPEDA: Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act. Federal legislation that governs the collection, use and disclosure of personal information in the course of commercial activities. Organizations are obligated to an individual's consent when they collect, use or disclose the individual's personal information. The organization must obtain consent each and every time it uses the information for a purpose different from the original purpose.

4. MFIPPA: Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. Ontario legislation which, with some limitations, provides the public with a right of access to records held by a municipality and protects the privacy of personal and sensitive information.
5. FIPPA: Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. Ontario legislation which, with some limitations, provides the public with a right of access to records held by a government office or publicly funded institution, and protects the privacy of personal and sensitive information.
6. Personal Information: Includes any factual or subjective information, recorded or not, about an identifiable individual. Personal information does not include business information which is publicly available, such as an employee's name, title, business address or telephone number.

6.1.2 General directives

Records shall be destroyed using a method appropriate to their medium and content. Records containing confidential and/or personal information shall be destroyed in a manner that ensures definitive obliteration.

6.1.7 Authority, responsibility and accountability

Management is expected to provide support for the recorded information management Program, as well as to designate an employee to; administer & support their department's record management, participate in training for this role, and ensure Corporate Department receives file copies of designated documents.

6.2 Privacy

Kingston Economic Development Corporation has a responsibility to protect the privacy of the personal information of our partners and clients. The collection, retention and disclosure of personal information, online or offline, is governed by the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents (PIPEDA) Act. As a publicly funded Corporation, some sections of the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act apply to Kingston Economic Development Corporation.

6.2.1 Collection and use of personal information

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to providing its partners and other individuals with quality professional development opportunities, excellent networking events, and information regarding Economic Development.

In order to meet these goals, Kingston Economic Development Corporation may collect, use and disclose personal information, when applicable, and with an individual's consent, for the following purposes:

// To verify the identity of workshop participants.

// To register persons for Kingston Economic Development Corporation events or workshops to communicate and provide information about Kingston Economic Development Corporation or Kingston Economic Development Corporation related events.

// To communicate and provide information about up-coming Kingston Economic Development Corporation and Kingston Economic Development Corporation related events, programs, services and other opportunities.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation does not sell or rent this information to any external parties.

Accuracy of personal information

Kingston Economic Development Corporation endeavors to ensure that any personal information provided by an individual or an organization and in its possession is as accurate, current and complete as necessary for the purposes for which Kingston Economic Development Corporation uses that data.

Retention of personal information

Kingston Economic Development Corporation retains personal information as long as we believe it is necessary to fulfill the purpose for which it was collected. Legal, financial or business requirements may dictate the retention period in some cases. Wherever appropriate, Kingston Economic Development Corporation will destroy any personal information not actively being used or required for retention.

Safeguarding personal information

Kingston Economic Development Corporation endeavours to maintain adequate physical, procedural and technical security with respect to its offices so as to prevent any loss, misuse, unauthorized access, disclosure or modification of personal information.

6.2.2 Website privacy

In conjunction with the City of Kingston, Kingston Economic Development Corporation is monitoring the evolution of federal and provincial legislation specific to online privacy and is committed to conformance with any regulations applicable to municipal governments.

Information and services available through Kingston Economic Development Corporation Corporate web sites can be obtained in other ways if an individual prefers not to interact with us online. Information and services available here may also be obtained by phone, fax, postal mail, or in person. Each case may be dependent on the nature of the content or transaction. We make an effort to associate appropriate alternate contact and delivery information with specific information and services throughout our web sites. You can begin any communication with Kingston Economic Development Corporation here:

Generally, however, users do not have to routinely provide personal information to visit Kingston Economic Development Corporation sites or to download information. What we do collect, when we collect it, and how is described below.

Monitoring of web site traffic

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's primary websites are ww.investkingston.ca and kingstonecdev.com and utilizes the web traffic analyzer Google Analytics. For username and password information or to request specific statistics, please contact the CEO.

Like most Web servers on the Internet, the Kingston Economic Development Corporation website servers maintain access logs that record Web browser activity. These logs associate an Internet Protocol (IP) address with each request for content from the servers. Often this IP address is the address assigned to a visitor's personal computer. (This IP address may be temporarily or permanently assigned to an individual computer by an Internet Service Provider or by a business's own network administrators). Alternatively, this IP address may represent the network gateway of an Internet Service Provider or business network, rather than an individual computer. Server logs including these IP addresses are used by Kingston Economic Development Corporation to analyze Web traffic. Data from these logs help us understand what information and services are of most interest to visitors and help us visualize the geographic origination of visitors.

Generally, the nature of Internet addressing allows Kingston Economic Development Corporation to associate any IP address with a particular Internet Service Provider or network. Kingston Economic Development Corporation makes no attempt to associate these IP addresses with the personal information of an individual site visitor. In a case of abuse of our Web sites, Kingston Economic Development Corporation may report the IP address of a suspected abuser to the appropriate law enforcement authorities.

Use of "cookies"

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation contracted web servers are able to use "cookie" technology to keep track of the Web browsers with which they are communicating. During a cookie transaction, a Web server will hand a Web browser some data prescribed by the Web site's developers. The Web browser will return that data with its next request for content from the Web site. Using this technology, it is possible for an application running on a Web server to distinguish one Web browser's activity from another.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation contracted servers will make use of such cookies when required to identify ongoing sessions with individual online visitors. Examples include:

- // To associate a particular visitor with their own "shopping basket" when they are making online payments.
- // To prevent abuse of online surveys and questionnaires.
- // To provide customized content and user-interface features to visitors who have specifically requested such services.

In all cases, the cookie data Kingston Economic Development Corporation Web servers may hand your browser contain only "session" Identifying information. No other personal information is passed to your browser, where it may be stored on your own computer. On our end, cookie-related data is not permanently stored on Kingston Economic Development Corporation Web servers. Information stored temporarily in our cookie collection may include the contents of a shopping cart, but never includes a visitor's name or address or sensitive data such as a credit card number -- even when a credit card is being used for online payment. Further, Kingston Economic Development Corporation does not match for its records any session-identifying cookie information with the Internet Protocol (IP) addresses described above in the information on monitoring Web- Site Traffic.

Links to other web sites

Kingston Economic Development Corporation Web sites include links to Web pages or sites operated by third parties. We endeavour to make it clear that certain links will take you away from our site and to destinations over which we have no control. Our privacy policy does not apply to the sites of third parties to which we link. Instead, we encourage you to review the policies of these sites yourself upon your arrival.

Data security

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is committed to the security of personal information it may collect online or offline. Kingston Economic Development Corporation has taken reasonable precautions to protect this personal information from loss, misuse or alteration. Any third parties who may have roles in managing such information on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation are also committed to the same principles.

6.3 MFIPPA corporate access and privacy guidelines

Personal information

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation (Kingston Economic Development Corporation will collect, use, maintain and disclose personal information in its custody and control in accordance with the privacy requirements of the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act and its regulations ("MFIPPA"). These guidelines apply to all personal information that is in the custody and control of Kingston Economic Development Corporation and/or collected, used and/or disclosed by Kingston Economic Development Corporation. These guidelines are for general purposes only. For advice on specific privacy issues, staff should contact the CEO.

Requirements

MFIPPA sets out privacy requirements related to the collection, use and disclosure of personal information in Kingston Economic Development Corporation's custody and control. These requirements are as follows:

1. Any collection of personal information by Kingston Economic Development Corporation must either be expressly authorized by statute or be necessary to the administration of Kingston Economic Development Corporation's programs, services and/or activities.
2. Personal information must be collected directly from the person to whom the information relates unless they have authorized another manner of collection.
3. All forms (including electronic and hard copy) used to collect personal information must identify the statutory authority for the collection and/or the purpose for which it will be used and the name of a contact person who can answer questions about the collection. These forms must be reviewed by legal for privacy compliance prior to use.

4. Kingston Economic Development Corporation is not permitted to use personal information in its custody or control except with the consent of the individual or for the purpose for which it was originally collected. Staff should consult with the CEO if they require clarification on the proper use, or disclosure of the information.
5. Kingston Economic Development Corporation is not permitted to disclose an individual's personal information except in limited circumstances, including:
 - // Where the individual has identified that information in particular and has consented to its disclosure.
 - // Where an employee needs the record in the performance of their duties and the disclosure is necessary and proper in the discharge of Kingston Economic Development Corporation's functions. This means where the disclosure is necessary to the proper administration of Kingston Economic Development Corporation's programs, services and/or activities, including the administration of its by-laws or statutory programs. Disclosures that are merely convenient or desirable are not allowed.
 - // Where disclosure is to a law enforcement agency in Canada for the purpose of aiding in an investigation - these types of requests should be referred to the CEO.
 - // In compelling circumstances affecting the health and safety of an individual or compassionate circumstances, but only after referral to the CEO.
6. Staff will ensure that reasonable measures to prevent unauthorized access are defined, documented and put into place.
7. Staff will take all reasonable measures to keep the personal information collected from individuals accurate and up-to-date.
8. Any breach of privacy or security should be immediately reported to the CEO.
9. Staff will take reasonable measures to protect the records in their custody and control from inadvertent destruction and each measure must be defined, documented and put into place, taking into account the nature of the records to be protected.
10. Records containing personal information must be retained for at least a year after use in the absence of a by-law setting out a specified time period and may only be destroyed under schedule. A disposal record, not containing any personal information, must be maintained.
11. Every individual has a right of access to their own personal information in the custody and control of Kingston Economic Development Corporation. Individuals requesting access to their own personal information or general records may make an access request for records that may be subject to exemptions under MFIPPA. All formal access requests will be processed by the CEO.

Third party information

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation may collect, use, maintain and disclose third party information in its custody and control in accordance with the privacy requirements of and subject to the certain exemptions outlined in Sections 10 and 11 of the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act and its regulations ("MFIPPA"). These guidelines are for general purposes only. For advice on specific privacy issues, staff should contact the CEO.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation enters into both commercial and non-commercial relationships with third parties, such as Kingston Economic Development Corporation Clients, where information is supplied in confidence implicitly or explicitly about trade secrets or scientific, technical, commercial, financial or labour relations, where disclosure of this information could reasonably be expected to:

- // Prejudice significantly the competitive position or interfere significantly with the contractual or other negotiations of a person, group of persons, or organization.
- // Result in similar information no longer being supplied where it is in the public interest that similar information continue to be so supplied.
- // Result in undue loss or gain to any person, group, committee or financial institution or agency.
- // Reveal information supplied to or the report of a conciliation officer, mediator, labour relations officer or other person appointed to resolve a labour relations dispute.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation will not disclose any Third Party information as described above and as specifically defined in Sections 10 and 11 of the Act, unless the Third Party or Person to whom the information relates consents to disclosure.

6.4 Corporate brand management

6. Request to use Kingston Economic Development Corporation Logos by outside agencies

Request from outside agencies, profit or non-profit, and requests for commercial use of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Logo, shall require approval of the Marketing Manager.

If Kingston Economic Development Corporation has agreed to partner on a project with an outside agency, use of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Logo may be approved by the Marketing Manager. All use of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Logo in advertising and promotional print materials is approved by the Marketing Manager.

Style Guidelines

A choice in logo size and colour has been provided within the Brand Guidelines to allow for the most practical use of the logo over the full-range of applications. These will be supplied for approved uses.

General style guidelines for use of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Logo

1. The Logo cannot be distorted.
2. The Logo must be sharp, clear and surrounded by a protective zone of open space.
3. The Logo must be separated from distracting elements and must not be dominated by other typefaces or graphics.
4. The Logo may not be overprinted or combined with other designs.
5. The Logo may be reduced or enlarged but proportional changes and distortions are not permitted. For clarity issues, the Logo may not be reduced to less than 3 cm in diameter.
6. The Logo may be reproduced in full colour, in spot colour or in black and white.

6.3.3 Domain registration and renewal policy

All websites which the Kingston Economic Development Corporation incurs costs for (such as development, production or hosting charges) or at a future time may incur costs for, must have domain names which are owned by the Corporation. All domain names owned by the Kingston Economic Development Corporation must be registered through the Corporation's account at rebel.ca which reflects an ownership registration of:

Organization: Kingston Economic Development
Corporation Full address: 366 King Street, Suite 420
City: Kingston
Postal code: K7K 6Y3
Phone: 613-544-2725
E-mail: communications@investkingston.ca

When interested in purchasing a new domain name for Corporation use, a request must be made to the CEO or delegate to undertake purchase on behalf of the Corporation.

Domain name renewal/registration charges are applied to the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Corporate credit card. Costs for domain purchase/renewal will be charged back to appropriate departments as part of annual domain registration fees.

An annual review of domain name registrations is undertaken by the CEO or delegate to determine ongoing interest in renewing registrations and maintain websites or option to abandon domain.

Websites

All websites for which the Corporation incurs costs must be owned by and subject to the final approval of the Corporation in terms of content and images. Live websites owned and managed by the Corporation include:

1. InvestKingston.ca
2. KingstonCanada.com

The development and publication of new websites must be undertaken in consultation with the CEO and Marketing Manager. Every effort should be made to incorporate new web content into the Corporation's primary website www.investkingston.ca.

Newsletter communications

Newsletter tools have been developed for correspondence to targeted groups. These tools offer individuals the ability to subscribe and unsubscribe which meets federal privacy legislation standards.

Newsletter content must be approved by the Marketing Manager prior to distribution.

In cases where employees have submitted a media purchase outline in advance, the Marketing Manager does not need to be consulted prior to specific ad purchase, but must be copied on all correspondence with media sales reps.

All advertising purchases should be invoiced to the Business Development Officer who will code for budget allocation and submit for payment. Copies of tear sheets/audio tracks will be required from advertising outlet.

Section 7.0

Finance

7.1 Purchasing

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's business activities require letting contracts for products and services for a wide range of project activity. Contracts support the strategic plan and annual Sales and Operating Budget and ensure that the Corporation can access specialized knowledge, products, or services in order to meet business objectives.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation employs an open and competitive tendering process intended to achieve the best value for the Corporation, and provide opportunities for local business.

The Corporation is prohibited from making any donations of any nature to any political party or event.

7.1.1 Approvals and authorities

During the course of business Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees may find themselves in situations where they could make decisions that encumber the Corporation financially. Any type of commitment made on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation, which has financial implications, must follow the procedure outlined below.

Definitions

1. Budget commitment means an amount within the annual operating budget which has been ratified by the Board of Directors.
2. Budget "owner" means the employee who has oversight over and signing authority for either a project or business unit budget. Signing authorities are outlined in paragraph "b."

Signing authority

1. Board of Directors > $49,999
2. Finance Committee > $24,999*
(expenditures over $24,999 and under $49,999 will be brought to the Board's attention by way of Finance and Audit Committee minutes)*
3. Chief Executive Officer $0 to $24,999
4. Business Development Managers $0 to $ 9,999
5. Coordinators $0 to $ 4,999
6. Owner of budget should authorize all expenditures allocated to that budget
7. All other categories of employee NONE

Procedure: Purchase request (sent prior to commitment)

1. Cost of purchase/commitment is less than $4,999 (excluding HST)

If the total cost of the purchase/commitment made on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation is less than $4,999, the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee must first seek approval from the budget owner. If the employee is the budget owner they may proceed without any further approval.

2. Cost of the purchase commitment is between $5,000 - $9,999 (excluding HST)

If the total cost of the purchase/commitment made on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation is between $5,000 - $9,999, the employee must first seek approval from the applicable Business Development Manager.

3. Cost of purchase commitment is between $10,000 - $24,999 (excluding HST)

If the total cost of the purchase/commitment made on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation is between $10,000 - $24,999, the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee must submit a purchase request through the CEO.

4. Cost of the purchase commitment is between $25,000 - $49,999 (excluding HST)

If the total cost of the purchase/commitment made on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation is between $25,000 - $49,999, the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee must submit a request through CEO to the Finance and Audit Committee for approval.

At the time of the request, it should be noted whether the expenditure is currently in the budget or if it is an extraordinary item.

5. Cost of the purchase/commitment is greater than $50,000 (including/excluding HST)

If the total cost of the commitment made on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation is greater than $50,000 the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee must submit a request through the CEO through the Finance and Audit Committee to the full Board for approval.

At the time of the request, it should be noted if this expenditure is currently in the budget or if it is an extraordinary item.

Procedure: Purchase order (received prior to commitment)

Only after receiving approval, the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee submitting the request can then complete the financial commitment on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation. When invoicing is received the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee who submitted the request should attach the approved purchase order and submit it promptly to finance for payment without delay.

Any Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee who fails to follow the proper procedure may become personally liable for any financial commitment and may be subject to formal disciplinary action.

Expenses cannot be claimed by an individual that are incurred by their approver.

Expenses claimed by the CEO require the review and approval of the Board Chair and Treasurer (or second Board member if Treasurer not available).

Expenses claimed by the CEO where the Board Chair or Treasurer were in attendance/participating voids their approval ability and requires two independent Board member to review and approve.

7.2 Contracts

Contracts support the strategic plan and ensure that the Corporation can access specialized knowledge, products, or services in order to meet business objectives.

An employee's ability to bind the Corporation is subject to the Budgetary Authority as outlined in 7.1.1 above. If an employee violates the terms of the Purchasing Policy, they may be personally liable for any financial commitment, and shall be subject to disciplinary action.

Definitions

A revenue contract is a contract with an outside funding agency. These contract proposals arise through staff efforts to identify potential opportunities that conform to existing Kingston Economic Development Corporation strategic objectives.

Provisions: Expense contracts

1. All expense contracts in excess of $10,000 should be regularly reported to the appropriate Finance and Audit Committee.
2. For expense contracts of more than $25,000, the business case for the proposed expenditure should be reviewed by the Finance and Audit Committee prior to the seeking of expressions of interest from prospective suppliers.
3. For contracts between $5,000 and $24,999, a more formal tendering process will be followed. At least 3 requests for quotations will be sought.
4. For contracts in excess of $25,000 advertisements will be placed through online bidding platforms. The $25,000 threshold is identified since it is the level where formal contract of services is required by the provincial and federal governments related to Revenue Contracts.
5. For all other contracts, the nature of the contract – timing, estimated scope/value, etc. – will suggest the best mechanism for competition, and can range from the most public process through to soliciting, by telephone or e-mail, expressions of interest from local providers and from which a successful proposal is selected.
6. In all cases of un-tendered contracts in excess of $10,000 a list of competitors, their quotation and the amount of the successful bid will be submitted to the Finance Committee for information.
7. Kingston Economic Development Corporation periodically enters into unique and innovative partnerships with private sector partners that have developed a new program or initiative. Such partnerships would be seriously impeded if, after jointly developing a new program, the resulting contract needs to be tendered. In addition, very infrequently, there may be more than one source in the open market but for reasons of function or service, only one vendor is recommended for consideration. These exceptions, which exceed $25,000 will be brought to the Finance and Audit Committee for approval.
8. All expense contracts shall be covered by a written contract and/or a purchase order.

Provisions: Revenue contracts

Because revenue contracts normally require Kingston Economic Development Corporation to provide some combination of Kingston Economic Development Corporation resources and/or deliverables, they may create a liability for the organization. Revenue contracts must be approved by the CEO before the submission of the proposal to the funding agency.

The general characteristics of a revenue contract are as follows:

- // Identification of a government or agency program which is in line with Kingston Economic Development Corporation program intentions.
- // Informal discussion with program administrators to confirm the alignment.
- // Formal application – a proposal – often completed using forms or other pre-formatted documents which form part of the program.
- // Proposal evaluation and approval – a period of time ranging from several weeks to several months – where the Kingston Economic Development Corporation proposal is considered along with other applicants for the available funding. The evaluation done by program administrators confirms the “fit” of the Kingston Economic Development Corporation proposal to the program outcomes, along with other considerations.
- // Proposal “award” – a successful program application is returned to Kingston Economic Development Corporation, often in the form of a contract, which requires Kingston Economic Development Corporation to confirm any adjustments as part of the award tender to sign back.

Procedure

If a Business Development Manager identifies a funding opportunity which aligns with the strategic objectives of the Corporation, they must submit a proposal for consideration to the CEO.

7.3 Tendering

The proposal must include: a) name of funding agency and program, b) Kingston Economic Development Corporation resources required to complete the application, c) Kingston Economic Development Corporation resources required to fulfill the program requirements if the application is successful, and d) the business case for pursuing the funding.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation receives the majority of its funding through the three levels of the Government, and as such, is viewed as a very public organization. During the course of business Kingston Economic Development Corporation enters into a number of expense and revenue contracts. The following are the guidelines regarding the letting of contracts.

Provisions

1. Kingston Economic Development Corporation has a standard template for Requests for Proposals (RFP) which shall be employed by all employees.
2. RFP's must have the following elements:
 - // Pre-qualification checklist.
 - // Detailed description of the opportunity.
 - // Description of the Corporation.
 - // Scope of the Project.

- // Detailed statement of work.
 - // Detailed instructions on how to respond to the RFP.
 - // Schedule for the entire RFP and selection process with milestones.
 - // Basis of the award.
 - // Definition of the level of service required.
 - // Request for additional information.
 - // Confidentiality agreements when necessary.
 - // Distribution list with complete contact information including; company name, mailing address, e-mail address, telephone number, fax number and contact name.
3. RFP's will be distributed by the office of the CEO to ensure consistency.
 4. Successful and un-successful proposals shall be notified by the office of the CEO to ensure consistency.
 5. Authority to award projects adheres to the Budgetary Authority outlined in the Purchasing Procedure.

Contract values and procedure required

1. Cost of the contract is less than $10,000 (excluding HST)

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee should proceed with the contract that is most reasonable in terms of finances and deliverables. While there is no formal process required, three informal quotes should be obtained prior to any commitment being made on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation.

2. Cost of the contract is between $10,000 - $24,999 (excluding HST)

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee is required to obtain a minimum of three (3) vendors to obtain quotes. The CEO has the option to waive the requirement for an RFP with approval from the Finance & Audit Committee.

The Employee is responsible for filing copies of the RFP, and all responses with the office of the CEO for record keeping.

3. Cost of the contract is between $25,000 - $49,999 (excluding HST)

The Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee must submit a formal proposal, including the completed request for proposal template, to the Finance and Audit Committee for approval. (The committee has the option to waive the need to receive three (3) quotes if appropriate). All proposals received must be presented to the Finance and Audit Committee, through the CEO for review and approval.

If the total cost of the contract is greater than $50,000 the Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee must submit a formal proposal, including the completed request for proposal template, to the Kingston Economic Development Corporation Board of Directors for approval. (The Kingston Economic Development Corporation Board has the option to waive the need to receive three (3) quotes if appropriate).

All proposals received must be presented to the full Board (through the Finance and Audit Committee, and the CEO) for selection.

7.4 Accounts payable and receivable

Kingston Economic Development Corporation has contracted the City of Kingston Financial Services Department to perform general accounting functions including the processing of Accounts Payable and Receivable. Employees are required to follow the procedures outlined below in accordance with Kingston Economic Development Corporation financial policy.

Procedure: Accounts payable

1. Invoices should be submitted/paid within fourteen (14) days of receipt.
2. Payment shall be issued for invoices which have been properly coded as to the department, and General Ledger account code.
3. Invoices must be authorized by the appropriate budget owner.
4. Any submissions that do not contain the items noted above will be deemed incomplete.
5. Payment will not be issued for incomplete submissions.

Accounts receivable

1. Accounts Receivable duties and obligations are conducted by Kingston Economic Development Corporation in-house.
2. Accounts 60 days past due will be flagged.
3. Further purchases from vendors in poor standing will be withheld until the account is cleared.

7.5 Borrowing/in-debttness

Kingston Economic Development Corporation is a not-for-profit Corporation partially funded by the municipality. The Kingston Economic Development Corporation Board of Directors and Kingston Economic Development Corporation employees have a duty to ensure the efficient use of resources.

The Board of Directors will exercise fiduciary responsibility.

7.6 Cash handling procedure

At times cash is received on behalf of the Corporation for event registration and/or the sale of goods and services. Payment by currency (bank notes & coin), cheques, bank drafts, money orders, and credit and debit card are all possible forms of acceptable payment.

7.6.1 Provisions

Safeguarding cash

All cash received by a department is the responsibility of that department until it is deposited with the employee whose duties include financial oversight or directly with the bank.

All cash must be kept in a secure location. Particular attention needs to be paid to the security of cash overnight and during the day. Cash must not be left unattended during the day. Cash should be stored overnight (or during the day while unattended) in a cash box within a locked cabinet or safe to which there is restricted access.

Under no circumstances are cash proceeds to be used for making loans, advances, or to pay for Kingston Economic Development Corporation expenditures. All cash proceeds must be properly deposited (see "Processing Procedures" section below).

Segregation of duties

Critical controls such as segregation of duties, limited access, and regular reconciliation are important in handling cash.

The number of individuals authorized to receive and handle the cash should be limited. The individual who receives cash should prepare a listing of all incoming cash.

The employee should ensure that the responsibility for receiving cash is segregated from the responsibility for depositing the cash. No one person should be permitted to handle a transaction from beginning to end.

The CEO's Office should compare the record of the initial receipt of cash to the amount deposited. Specifically, the Deposit Form, which reflects both the amount deposited and the General Ledger entry, should equal cash register totals or receipt book totals for the same period.

7.6.2 Procedure

1. All cash proceeds must be receipted immediately with a written receipt.
2. It is good practice to record the form of payment received on the receipt (i.e. currency, debit card, cheque, type of credit card).
3. Kingston Economic Development Corporation will accept cash, cheque, money order, MasterCard or Visa through the City of Kingston, so long as there is an associated invoice.
4. All cash proceeds must be regularly deposited into an authorized Kingston Economic Development Corporation bank account.
5. Departments must ensure cash proceeds are correctly coded to departmental accounts and the HST collected is properly recorded.

7.6.3 Completeness of cash transactions

Cash transactions are reviewed and reconciled by the City of Kingston Financial Services Department to ensure they have been correctly recorded.

7.6.4 Third party cash transactions

From time to time, Kingston Economic Development Corporation will accept credit card payments on behalf of a partner who is not equipped to do so.

// Cash Transactions processed for a third party are subject to the processes and procedures outlined above to ensure consistency with City of Kingston Department of Financial Services policy.

// Cash transactions processed for a third party are subject to a three percent (3%) surcharge to cover the banking costs associated with credit card payments.

7.7 Audit

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's financial statements will be audited annually by a licensed public accounting firm recommended by the Finance and Audit Committee and appointed by the Board of Directors.

7.8 Corporate asset policy

7.8.1 Objective

The objective of this policy is to prescribe the accounting treatment for tangible capital assets so that users of the financial report can discern information about the investment in property, plant and equipment and the changes in such investment. This policy will provide guidance for all departments to assist them in assessing their physical resources in order to provide the information necessary to prepare financial statements. The principal issues in accounting for tangible capital assets are the recognition of the assets, the determination of their carrying amounts, amortization charges and the recognition of any related impairment losses.

In addition, the policy covers procedures to:

- // Protect and control the use of all tangible capital assets.*
- // Provide accountability over the tangible capital assets.*
- // Gather and maintain information needed to prepare financial statements.*

7.8.2 Definitions

Amortization

Tangible Capital Assets are used to provide services to the public. Amortization of capital assets allocates an expense for the effective utilization and reduction in value of a capital asset during the course of a year's operations. This indicates writing off the cost of the capital asset over its expected life span.

Betterments

Subsequent expenditures on tangible capital assets that:

- // Increase the previously assessed physical output or service capacity.*
- // Cause a reduction in associated operating costs.*
- // Extend the estimated useful life.*
- // Cause an improvement in the quality of output.*

Any other expenditure would be considered a repair or maintenance and expensed in the year incurred.

Capitalization

Tangible capital assets shall be capitalized (recorded in the fixed asset sub-ledger) according to the asset categories outlined.

Capital lease

A capital lease is a lease with contractual terms that transfers substantially all the benefits and risks inherent in ownership of property to the Corporation. For substantially all of the benefits and risks of ownership to be transferred to the Corporation, one or more of the following conditions must be met:

- // There is reasonable assurance that the Corporation will obtain ownership of the leased property at the end of the lease term.
- // The lease term is of such a duration that the Corporation will receive substantially all of the economic benefits expected to be derived from the use of the leased property over its life span.

Fair market value

Fair value is the amount of consideration that would be agreed upon in an arm’s length transaction between knowledgeable and willing parties who are under no compulsion to act.

Tangible capital assets

Assets having physical substance that:

1. Are held for use by the Corporation in the production or supply of goods and services for the development, construction, maintenance or repair of other tangible capital assets.
2. Have useful lives extending beyond a year and are intended to be used on a continuing basis.
3. Are not intended for sale in the ordinary course of operations.

Valuation

Tangible capital assets shall be recorded at cost, if cost is available, plus all additional charges necessary to place the asset in its intended location and condition for use.

7.8.3 Policy statements

Threshold

The threshold for each category represents the minimum cost an individual asset must have before it is to be recorded as a capital asset on the statement of financial position. Capital assets not meeting the threshold of $1,000 per year are expensed in the year in which they are purchased.

Capital assets

The estimated useful lives are as follows:

Computer hardware	3 years
Furniture and equipment	5 years
Website	5 years
Display units	7 years
Signage	7 years
Leasehold improvements	5–10 years
CRM system	10 years

The carrying value of an item of capital assets is tested for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognized when the carrying amount is not recoverable and exceeds its fair value.

Purchased assets

Cost is the gross amount of consideration paid to acquire the asset. It includes all non-refundable taxes and duties, freight and delivery charges, installation, and site preparation costs, etc. It is net of any trade discounts or rebates.

Cost of land includes purchase price plus legal fees, land registration fees, transfer taxes, migration, and survey costs. Costs would include costs to make the land suitable for intended use, such as pollution mitigation, demolition and site improvements that become part of the land.

When two or more assets are acquired for a single purchase price, it is necessary to allocate the purchase price to the various assets acquired. Allocation shall be based on the fair value of each asset at the time of acquisition or some other reasonable basis if fair value is not readily determinable.

Acquired, constructed or developed assets

Cost includes all costs directly attributable (e.g. construction, architectural and other professional fees) to the acquisition, construction or development of the asset. Capitalization of general administrative overhead is not permitted.

Capitalization of carrying costs ceases when no construction or development is taking place or when the tangible capital asset is completed or ready for use.

Capitalization of interest costs

Interim financing costs incurred by the acquisition, construction and production of an asset that takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use shall be capitalized as part of the cost of that asset.

Capitalization of interest costs shall commence when expenditures are being incurred, borrowing costs are being incurred and activities that are necessary to prepare the asset for its intended use are in progress.

Capitalization shall be suspended during periods in which active development is interrupted. Capitalization interest shall cease when substantially all of the activities necessary to prepare the asset for its intended use are complete.

Donated or contributed assets

The cost of donated or contributed assets that meet the criteria for recognition shall be valued equal to their fair market value at the date of construction or contribution. Fair market value for land will be based on land assessment value or appraised value, all other items shall be based on fair market value.

Amortization

The cost, less any residual value, of a tangible capital asset with a limited life will be amortized over its useful life in a rational and systematic manner appropriate to its nature and use. The amortization method and estimate of useful life of the remaining unamortized portion shall be reviewed on a regular basis and revised when the appropriateness of a change can be clearly demonstrated.

Useful life is normally the shortest of the asset's physical, technological, commercial or legal life. Amortization shall begin in January of the year in which the costs were incurred. No amortization shall be recorded in the year an asset is disposed of. No amortization shall be recorded on a capital asset in progress or one that has been removed from service but not yet disposed of.

The Corporation shall use a straight-line method for calculating the annual amortization. A comprehensive list of useful lives and amortization is attached.

Disposal

When tangible capital assets are taken out of service, destroyed or replaced due to obsolescence, scrapping or dismantling, the department head or designate shall notify the Operations Manager of the asset description and effective date. The Operations Manager shall be responsible for adjusting the asset ledgers.

The disposal of a capital asset shall result in its removal from service as a result of sale, destruction or loss.

When a capital asset is disposed of, the cost and the accumulated amortization shall be removed from the accounting records and any gain or loss recorded. Costs of disposal paid by the Corporation shall be expensed. A gain or loss on disposal is the difference between the net proceeds received and the net book value of the asset and shall be accounted for as a revenue or expense in the period the disposal occurs.

Capital leases

Capital leases shall be formally approved by the Board of Directors. The CEO or designate shall notify the Corporate Auditors of any capital lease.

Assets excluded from amortization

Land shall be capitalized and not amortized. Works of art, historical treasures and intangible assets such as patents, copyrights and trademarks shall not be capitalized nor amortized.

7.9 Corporate investment policy

7.9.1 Introduction

1.0 Introduction

In the ordinary course of business (Kingston Economic Development Corporation) accumulates excess cash balances that are not required for short-term operating or capital purposes. Excess funds area to be invested in approved products to earn interest income above the amount that would be earned if left in the Corporate bank account.

2.0 Purpose

This policy describes strategies and controls for managing the Kingston Economic Development Corporation's cash investment program.

3.0 Approval

This policy has been approved by Kingston Economic Development Corporation's Board of Directors. Investing activities of Kingston Economic Development Corporation must be approved, executed and reported on as outlined in this policy.

7.9.2 Policy

1.0 Corporate objective

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's main objective is to invest excess Corporate cash holdings in a prudent manner as authorized by the Board of Directors. Specifically:

- Investments will be purchased to secure capital and minimize risk.
- A reasonable level of return commensurate with risk, terms and volume will be sought.

2.0 General policy

Investments will only be made in certain Money Market, Government of Canada or U.S. Government products. Refer to Section 4.3 for definitions and details of these investment products. Kingston Economic Development Corporation will only make investment purchases through certain approved financial institutions or dealers. Refer to Section 4.4 for a list of these approved institutions and dealers.

7.9.3 Responsibilities and approvals

Identification of the excess funds available for investing is the responsibility of the CEO and Operations Manager. Investing of these excess funds in accordance with the rules established in this policy is also the CEO's responsibility. At the discretion of the CEO, the Operations Manager is authorized to assist with investing activities as detailed below.

// All investing activities are to be approved according to the following guidelines:

// For each investment, two approvals are required:

// Up to $500,000: CEO, Chair of Board of Directors, Vice-Chair of Board of Directors, Treasurer, Corporate Secretary.

7.9.4 Procedure

1.0 Cash flows

Based on the approved annual operating and capital budgets, the Operations Manager will prepare a cash flow forecast, using reasonable and prudent assumptions regarding the average collection cycle of sales and timing of cash outflows for operating and capital expenditures. The resulting cash flows will be used to determine the amount and timing of investment products to be purchased.

The cash flow forecast prepared will take into account updated operating and capital plans and forecasts.

2.0 Timing and maturity dates

Investing activities should be reviewed on an annual basis as actual, revised and forecasted operating and capital plans are completed. Maturity dates should be staggered so that investment cash inflows occur throughout the year.

3.0 Investment products

Only approved investment products, which include certain Money Market, Government of Canada and U.S. Government products can be purchased. These investment products will only be purchased from certain financial institutions or dealers as detailed in Sections 4.4 of this policy.

In determining the maximum amount of investment allowed in the products of an approved financial institution, Government of Canada or U.S. Government as detailed in Section 2.2, the relevant factor is the party guaranteeing the product, not the institution that sold the product.

Investments will only be made in certain Money Market products, Government of Canada Treasury Bills or Bonds or U.S. Government Treasury Bills.

Money Market products have the following characteristics:

- Short-term investments.
- Issued by Governments, Banks and Corporations.
- Available in Canadian and US dollars.
- Bought at a discount and mature at face value.
- Highly liquid, can sell on open market or through issuing institution.

The following are approved Money Market, Government of Canada and U.S. Government products and limits:

Government of Canada treasury bills – unlimited

Government of Canada treasury bills are short-term debt obligations issued and guaranteed by the Government of Canada. Issued at bi-weekly auctions, investments can be made in amounts of $100,000 or greater for terms ranging from one week to one year.

Government of Canada bonds

Government of Canada bonds are normally issued with a fixed interest rate at time of issue. While yields on outstanding bond issues rise and fall as a result of changes to market conditions, the Government of Canada guarantees only to pay the full face value of the bond on maturity.

Provincial treasury bills, Provincial promissory notes

Provincial treasury bills and Provincial promissory notes are issued by Canada's Provincial Governments. They offer high quality plus a higher rate than similar Government of Canada investments.

Banker's acceptances (issued and guaranteed by the 5 major Canadian banks as detailed in paragraph 4.4)

Banker's acceptances notes are short-term debt obligations issued by corporations with repayment of principal at maturity guaranteed by a Canadian Chartered Bank. Bankers Acceptances carry the same credit rating as the guaranteeing bank.

Bank bearer deposit notes (issues and guaranteed by the 5 major Canadian banks as detailed in paragraph 7.9.4.4)

Bearer deposit notes are short-term debt instruments of a Canadian Chartered Bank. Similar to a Banker's Acceptance except that the debt obligation is that of the Canadian Chartered Bank.

Bank term deposit (issued and guaranteed by the 5 major Canadian banks as detailed in paragraph 7.9.4.4)

Term deposits are interest-bearing deposits that give a fixed rate of interest over a fixed time period. Issued and guaranteed by a Canadian Chartered Bank, they are non-negotiable and non-transferable. They can be cashed before maturity at a reduced interest rate.

Commercial paper

Commercial paper investments are short-term, unsecured promissory notes issued by high quality corporations. They provide higher return than Treasury Bills and Bankers' Acceptances. Commercial Paper is not guaranteed by any bank. It is backed by the general credit of the issuing company.

Ratings Agencies will assign a credit rating to the corporation's commercial paper program, and the return will be a reflection of market sentiment, and the credit rating assigned. For example Dominion Bond Rating Service assigns R1 high, med, or low ratings for investment grade paper. Generally speaking, the return on high rated paper would be lower than the return on low rated paper to reflect the higher credit quality. Investors may choose to assign limits per grade of commercial paper instead of assigning limits on a per name basis.

Crown corporation paper (government-guaranteed commercial paper)

Crown Corporation paper investments are short-term, unsecured promissory notes issued by a Crown Corporation. They are guaranteed by the Government of Canada and offer the same high quality as Government of Canada Treasury Bills, but pay a slightly higher rate of return.

Securitized notes (asset-backed securities)

Securitized Notes are short-term promissory notes issued by a special purpose trust. The notes are secured by a pool of assets, such as loans, accounts receivables and mutual fund fees.

Guaranteed Investment Certificates (GIC)

Guaranteed Investment Certificates and term deposits are secured investments that are purchased through an authorized financial institution.

4.0 Banks and dealers

Approved investment products can be purchased through approved financial institutions or their dealers.

5.0 Records and accounting

Records or investing activities including matured and outstanding investments will be held and maintained by Controller is also responsible for ensuring that the investing transactions are accounted for and disclosed in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and Kingston Economic Development Corporation's accounting policies and practices.

6.0 Reporting

On an annual basis, an Investment Update will be prepared and submitted for review to the CEO and Finance Committee. Once approved, it will be submitted for information purposes to the Board of Directors. A brief narrative of results to date will also be provided if required.

7.0 Evaluation of performance and strategies

The primary objective of the investing strategy outlined in this policy is to minimize Kingston Economic Development Corporation's exposure to loss of capital; while maximizing the return on assets. For this reason, the results of investing activities will be measured in terms of the net investment income recorded compared to return available through our bank savings account.

7.9.5 Document control

CERTIFIED COPY OF A RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF KINGSTON ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION

BE IT RESOLVED that the investment policy described herein is hereby approved.

The foregoing resolution is consented to by the directors of the Corporation pursuant to the provisions of the Canada Business Corporation Act this _____ day of _____.

The undersigned Chair of Kingston Economic Development Corporation hereby certifies for and on behalf of the Corporation, and not in his person capacity, that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of a resolution duly passed by the Board of Directors of the Corporation and such resolution is, on the date hereof, in full force and effect without amendment.

This policy applies to all employees of Kingston Economic Development Corporation and any contractor who may be given access to the network. Corporate.

The CEO shall determine the need of an employee to use a mobile device. Corporate Process: Corporate Issued Devices.

The CEO is responsible for securing budget for the provision of mobile devices (e.g. the hardware).

1. CEO determines the need for a mobile device and secures appropriate budget approvals if necessary;
2. CEO determines the most appropriate device based on job duties;
3. Hardware expenditure shall be covered by the Corporation's budget.

Reimbursement

1. Corporate mobile devices

Kingston Economic Development Corporation -issued mobile devices are the property of Kingston Economic Development Corporation, including all data and information that can be accessed and/or stored on the device. Costs associated with the acquisition or the replacements of hardware are the responsibility of the user's department.

2. Kingston Economic Development Corporation will not reimburse employees for the following:

// Lost/damaged mobile device

// Roaming

// Plan overages

// Mobile device accessories

General procedures: Mobile devices

1. Acceptable use

Kingston Economic Development Corporation defines acceptable personal use on company time as reasonable and limited to personal communication.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation has a zero-tolerance policy for texting or emailing while driving and only hands-free talking while driving is permitted. If a call must be made or received while driving, the employee must pull over to a safe location to make or receive the call.

2. Security

In order to prevent unauthorized access, devices must be password protected using the features of the device and changed periodically. The device must lock itself with a password or PIN if it's idle for five (5) minutes. After five failed login attempts, the mobile device will lock and you must contact City IT provider to regain access.

All Corporate data on the device, whether personal or Corporate-issued may be encrypted following IT Service provider guidelines.

Corporate-issued or personal mobile devices that are connected to the Kingston Economic Development Corporation network may be remotely wiped if:

- The device is lost.
- The employee terminates their employment.
- Kingston Economic Development Corporation IT Services detects a data or policy breach, a virus or similar threat to the security of Kingston Economic Development Corporation's data and technology infrastructure.

While Kingston Economic Development Corporation will take every precaution to prevent the employee's personal data from being lost in the event it must remote wipe a device, it is the employee's responsibility to take additional precautions, such as backing up email, contacts, etc.

Lost or stolen devices whether personal or Corporate-issued, must be reported to Kingston Economic Development Corporation within twenty-four (24) hours. If the mobile device is personal, the employee is responsible for notifying their mobile carrier immediately upon loss of device.

Violations and penalties

Any violation of this Mobile Devices Policy must be immediately reported to the CEO. Violating the Mobile Devices Policy or any of its associated procedures, could result in disciplinary action leading up to and including removal of privileges or termination of employment.

8.3 E-mail and internet

Communications and Internet access should be conducted in a responsible and professional manner reflecting the Corporation's commitment to transparent, honest, ethical, and non-discriminatory business practice.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation's email system and networks are intended for the use of conducting Kingston Economic Development Corporation's business. The use of email and internet are encouraged where such use supports the goals and objectives of the business. However, access to the Internet through Kingston Economic Development Corporation is a privilege and all employees must adhere to the policies concerning Email and Internet usage. Violation of these policies could result in disciplinary and/or legal action leading up to and including termination of employment. Employees may also be held personally liable for damages caused by any violations of this policy.

- // Employees are expected to use the Internet responsibly and productively. Internet access is intended for job related activities.
- // All Internet data that is composed, transmitted and/or received by Kingston Economic Development Corporation computer systems is considered to belong to Kingston Economic Development Corporation and is recognized as part of its official data. - // Sending or posting discriminatory, harassing, or threatening messages or images on the Internet or via Kingston Economic Development Corporation email service.
- // Using computers to perpetrate any form of fraud, and/or software, film or music piracy.
- // Stealing, using, or disclosing someone else's password without authorization.
- // Downloading, copying or pirating software and electronic files that are copyrighted or without authorization.
- // Sharing confidential material, trade secrets, or proprietary information outside of the organization
- // Hacking into unauthorized websites.
- // Sending or posting information that is defamatory to Kingston Economic Development Corporation its services, colleagues and/or customers.
- // Introducing malicious software onto Kingston Economic Development Corporation network and/or jeopardizing the security of the organization's electronic communications systems.
- // Sending or posting chain letters, solicitations, or advertisements not related to business purposes or activities.
- // Passing off personal views as representing those of the organization. If an employee is unsure about what constituted acceptable Internet usage, then they should ask their manager for further guidance and clarification.

8.4 Social computing guidelines

The use of social computing sites is evolving at a faster pace than Corporate policies and procedures to guide use during business hours, or for business purposes. The guidelines outlined below are based on the —IBM Social Computing Guidelines, as IBM is a progressive company that is keeping pace with the development of social computing.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation 's is committed to an open exchange of ideas through varied communication channels. The communication tools we enlist will reflect the diversity of the population we serve.

Kingston Economic Development Corporation social media channels

Kingston Economic Development Corporation and its units actively utilize a variety of social media channels for Corporate promotional purposes.

It is important that staff:

1. Consult with the Marketing Manager prior to establishing a social media account, page or group (i.e. Linked In/Facebook/Twitter/Instagram) for a professional use.
2. Where possible (i.e. Facebook) both a staff contact and a general Kingston Economic Development Corporation account be established as administrators.
3. The username and password of the social media account must be provided to the Marketing Manager.

The same principles and guidelines that apply to Kingston Economic Development Corporation's staff in general, as found in the Code of Conduct, apply to employees' activities online. This includes all forms of online publishing and discussion, including; blogs, wikis, user-generated video and audio, virtual worlds and social networks.

In general, what employees do on their own time is their affair. However, activities in or outside of work that affect an employees Kingston Economic Development Corporation job performance, the performance of others, or Kingston Economic Development Corporation's business interests are proper focus for Corporate Policy. The guidelines for personal use of Kingston Economic Development Corporation communications resources apply to social computing.

General principles

1. Kingston Economic Development Corporation staff are personally responsible for the content they publish on blogs, wikis or any other form of user-generated media. Be mindful that what one publishes will be public for a long time—protect your and our clients' privacy.
2. Identify yourself—name and, when relevant, role at Kingston Economic Development Corporation — when you discuss Kingston Economic Development Corporation or Kingston Economic Development Corporation related matters. You must make it clear that you are speaking for yourself and not on behalf of Kingston Economic Development Corporation. If you publish content to any website outside of Kingston Economic Development Corporation and it has something to do with work you do or subjects associated with Kingston Economic Development Corporation, use a disclaimer such as this: "The postings on this site are my own and don't necessarily represent Kingston Economic Development Corporation's positions, strategies or opinions."
3. Respect copyright, fair use and financial disclosure laws and adhere to the terms of service as stated by each social media outlet.
4. Be aware of your association with Kingston Economic Development Corporation in online social networks. If you identify yourself as a Kingston Economic Development Corporation employee, ensure your profile and related content is consistent with how you wish to present yourself with colleagues and clients.

Guidelines

1. Use of social computing sites for Kingston Economic Development Corporation sanctioned activities, shall follow the Privacy (6.2) and Corporate Brand Management (6.4) policies and procedures.
2. Be who you are. Some bloggers work anonymously, using pseudonyms or false screen names. Nothing gains you more notice in the online social media environment than honesty—or dishonesty. If you have a vested interest in something you are discussing, be the first to point it out. But also be smart about protecting yourself, the Corporation and our clients' privacy. What you publish will be around for a long time, so consider the content carefully and also be judicious in disclosing personal details.
3. Be thoughtful about how you present yourself in online social networks. The lines between public and private, personal and professional are blurred in online social networks. You should ensure that content associated with you is consistent with your work at Kingston Economic Development Corporation.
4. Protecting confidential and proprietary information. Social computing blurs many of the traditional boundaries between internal and external communications. Be thoughtful about what you publish—particularly on external platforms. You must make sure you do not disclose or use Kingston Economic Development Corporation confidential or proprietary information or that of any other person or company in any online social computing platform. For example, ask permission before posting someone's picture in a social network or publishing in a blog a conversation that was meant to be private.
5. Protect Kingston Economic Development Corporation and Kingston Economic Development Corporation's clients, partners and suppliers. You must not comment on confidential Kingston Economic Development Corporation information. Clients, partners or suppliers should not be cited or obviously referenced without their approval. Externally, never identify a client, partner or supplier by name without permission and never discuss confidential details of a client engagement.
6. Be the first to respond to your own mistakes. If you make an error, be up front about your mistake and correct it quickly. In a blog, if you choose to modify an earlier post, make it clear that you have done so.
7. Use your best judgment. Remember that there are always consequences to what you publish. If you're about to publish something that makes you even the slightest bit uncomfortable, review the suggestions above and think about why that is.
8. Don't forget your day job. You should make sure that your online activities do not interfere with your job or commitments to customers.

8.5 Telephony systems

Kingston Economic Development Corporation through a contract with the City of Kingston IT&S department provides desktop telephones, and/or mobile devices to employees consistent with the requirements of their jobs.

Responsibility: Employees

1. Protect devices against elements such as dust, dirt, water, and heat.
2. Restrict use of operator assisted calls and Bell Directory Service (411). Refrain from using *69 (Last Call Return), busy call return, downloading ring-tones, and other pay per use features.
3. Place conference calls through the Corporate telephone system. All telephones have the capability of accommodating up to 4 party conferencing.
4. If Conferencing is required, the Telephone Administrator must be notified prior to the service date, and all associated charges will be the responsibility of the originating department.

5. Ensure recorded voice mail messages are changed frequently, and that they are appropriate, informative and timely. Voice mail should indicate whenever an employee is out of the office for any reason. If callers reach voice mail, they must be able to:
 - // Determine when you are available.
 - // Speak directly with another employee.
 - // Leave a message.
6. Maintain the security of their voice mail account and passwords.
7. Do not attempt to access the voice mailboxes of others unless authorized.
8. Use of 1-900 lines is strictly prohibited.
9. Limit use of wireless devices while outside the country. When traveling outside of Canada for business purposes, employees are responsible for notifying the cellular service provider who will temporarily suspend roaming charges. If an employee fails to notify the service provider, all roaming charges will be the responsibility of the originating department. If an employee incurs roaming charges during personal travel outside of Canada, all roaming charges will be the responsibility of the employee.
10. Return the Corporation's mobile device to the Corporation upon termination, change of duties, or at the request of the Corporation.
